

Swainson Could Be Convicted, Still Keep Seat

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — John B. Swainson, the state Supreme Court justice who is under investigation for allegations he took a bribe, could remain on the bench even if indicted or convicted.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Horace Gilmore, said Friday there was "nothing I know of" that would automatically remove Swainson from the bench upon conviction of a felony.

Swainson has appeared twice before a federal grand jury investigating charges he took a $40,000 bribe to persuade the high court to hear a case. Swainson refused to answer questions the second time, and there is speculation he may be indicted.

He has withdrawn from active participation on the court until his case is settled, although he still draws his $43,500 salary. The state Constitution contains no prohibition, as it does for legislators, against convicted felons holding judicial office. The only qualifications for being a judge are possession of a law license and an age of less than 70.

According to Gilmore, the main method of removing a judge is undertaken by the commission, which can recommend action to the Supreme Court, which makes the final decision.

Such a process can take up to a year, Gilmore said. It must be initiated by a complaint from a citizen, a majority of the tenure commission or the chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Then comes a confidential investigation and possibly a formal complaint, a hearing before a judge, a hearing before the full commission, a final decision and recommendation to the Supreme Court.

Such a procedure probably would be delayed pending any appeal of the conviction, Gilmore said. A complaint could be filed upon an indictment, but only suspension of the judge would be likely until the entire case was finished, he said.

The Constitution says the Supreme Court may "censure, suspend with or without salary, retire or remove a judge for conviction of a felony."

Removal also could come for physical or mental disability which prevents the performance

HAPPY BIRTHDAYS: The Michael S. Lake family of Jackson, Mich., now has three reasons to celebrate. Lake's wife, Beth, who turned 22 Thursday, gave birth to Michael S. two years ago on her birthday. Mrs. Lake repeated her performance when Michelle Lynn was born Thursday at 6:26 a.m. It wasn't planned, says Mrs. Lake. Michael was three weeks early and Michelle was born three weeks late. ## Crashes Claim 20

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic accidents around the nation claimed 20 lives in the early hours of the Memorial Day weekend. Showers slowed travel in scattered areas from Texas to the Great Lakes and parts of the East.

The National Safety Council estimated that between 400 and 500 persons may die in traffic during the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday. The Associated Press counted 389 traffic fatalities during the same 78-hour weekend in 1974.

HE WILL NEVER FORGET: From the first American war dead at Lexington to the Marines' engagement at Koh Tang island, this nation has paid a staggering toll for its freedom and rights. No one knows the cost better than Lyle Furlong of Riverside who was a sergeant in the Army Medical Corps in France 1918-1919. At 83, Sgt. Furlong remembers the dead and injured with a salute at Crystal Springs cemetery. Arthritic limbs prevent him from touching cap in full salute. He still proudly wears his doughboy uniform and is very active as adjutant in Barracks 582, World War I Veterans, St. Joseph. Nation honors dead of all wars on Memorial day, Monday. (Staff photo by Harry Smith)

Balmy Holiday In Store For Michiganders

The weatherman suggests it'll be a good but not spectacular Memorial Day weekend in southwestern Michigan.

His forecast sees balmy weather — highs into the mid-80s — but a chance of thundershowers tonight, Sunday and Monday.

The overnight lows should provide comfortable snoozing, with temperatures in the 60s.

Thus the long weekend should be a continuation of weather in recent days, with some sun, some clouds, and some rain.

Thundershowers dampened early hours of the Memorial Day weekend already in sections of the Midwest and spots eastward to the Middle Atlantic states.

Showers lingered in Texas today following two days of intermittent downpours, while warm, humid weather clung to most of the eastern half of the nation. Much of the West was cool and dry.

Winning Numbers

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The winning number in the Michigan Daily Lottery contest for Saturday, May 24, is one-zero-nine, (109), the state Lottery Bureau said.

The winning number in the Michigan Daily Lottery contest for Monday, May 26, is eight-four-two, (842), the bureau said.

Industrial Avenue Traffic To Detour

The first in a series of detours accompanying construction of the $9-million twin cities bridges will begin Tuesday on Industrial avenue, St. Joseph.

Ernest, project engineer for the Michigan Department of Transportation, said Industrial avenue will be closed so it can be rebuilt. A detour will be established a few feet north of the present road.

In about two weeks, Malwitz said, Wayne street will be closed from Ship street to Port street. Traffic will be detoured on Church street to Port street. Traffic will be two-way on Port street in front of the Durbin county jail.

Onsted Body Hunt Ends, Autopsies Start

ONSTED, Mich. (AP) — Digging for bodies believed buried around the foundation of a home here has been discontinued as autopsies get under way today to determine the identity of two corpses found earlier.

The corpses, found Thursday, are believed to be those of two Toledo women missing for more than a year. The autopsy was to be held at University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The bodies, wrapped in plastic bags, were found in the yard of a $40,000 home once owned by Gary A. Taylor, now being held in Houston for a series of sex crimes.

Inmates from the Lenawee County Jail were called on Friday to aid in the digging. While no more bodies were found, the estranged wife of Taylor in Houston, Texas, said Friday as many as three other people may be buried elsewhere in the subdivision.

An attorney in Houston quoted Mrs. Taylor as saying she believes three women and a man were slain in Onsted and a fifth victim in Seattle, Wash. Taylor "told her about the bodies while he was drunk and then said, 'No, I'm just kidding," after he had sobered up," attorney Frederick A. Meiser said in a telephone interview.

Friday's search yielded only scraps of cloth, some rope and a bone of unknown origin.

The search, which saw the yard ripped up by a backhoe and the inmates, will not be resumed unless further information is provided, according to sheriff's deputies.

Taylor was described by police as the "phantom sniper"

Michigan mental patient now being held in Houston, Tex., charged with five sex crimes. Two bodies were discovered at this Onsted, Mich., home, 20 miles southeast of Jackson, on Thursday. (AP Wirephoto)

Pray For Peace But Don't Forget The Heroic Dead

Memorial Day, to be celebrated on Monday, May 26, has a special significance this year. The New Yorker magazine observed recently that with the end of the war in Indochina, April 30 "was, as far as we can tell, the first time since Sept. 1, 1939, when the Second World War began, that something like peace reigned throughout the world." By tradition, Memorial Day has been a time to honor those Americans who died in service to their country and to decorate their graves with flowers. This year, there is likely to be more emphasis on preventing future wars than on commemorating those who have given their lives in past conflicts.

Memorial or Decoration Day began on May 30, 1868, when Gen. John A. Logan, head of the Grand Army of the Republic, called upon his men to strew flowers on the graves of their comrades who had fallen in the Civil War. When southern women asked permission to place flowers on the Confederate graves at Arlington National Cemetery, they were refused entrance. John Hinkel, in his book Arlington: Monument to Heroes, gives the following account of that first Memorial Day: "The Union graves there were heaped high with flowers — but the Confederate graves were left bare and forlorn. Then nature, or the spirits of the Union dead, took a hand. That night there was a blustery wind — and in the morning...the sentries found the Confederate graves buried under flowers blown from the Union graves."

More than 200,000 Americans lost their lives in the Civil War. In the

West German Memory Is Longer Than Ours

How short our memories are. The Arab oil boycott threw a major scare into individual motorists and official Washington alike. For months after the boycott ended there was much talk about revamping energy policies and adopting drastic measures to curtail dependence upon foreign suppliers.

Where are we today? More dependent than ever upon imported oil (about 40 per cent of current consumption), very little oil in reserve and bogged down in arguments over where and how the oil companies should search for new deposits.

West Germany also was affected by the oil boycott, but it acted differently once the immediate emergency was over. High gasoline taxes have discouraged consumption, but the most imaginative part of Bonn's energy

The Myth Of Planning

A famous English economist back in the late thirties became a bit weary with an acquaintance who was going on endlessly about planning as the ultimate panacea of all man's troubles. "Take a look at the city of London," the economist said. "It is one of the greatest organizations on earth. And who organized it?"

What he meant was that the banks, little stores, big stores, wholesale houses, law offices and all the rest had made London the great world center it was.

Government in business generally makes a fool of itself. In fact, it has difficulty appearing intelligent in its legitimate functions.

In free economies, resources are allocated by people voting with their dollars for what they want — and in response to those dollar votes, goods and services are produced. The millions of individual decisions by the people set production patterns, but in the planned society some central board or agency attempts to perform this function. The fact is central planning does not work efficiently.

Of course the politicians love to claim it will work. Many of them, who would fail trying to run a village store, are more articulate on the techniques and productivity of, say, the steel or automotive industries.

This country has reached its high level of prosperity by at least leaving the way open to risk, initiative and enterprise.

EDITOR'S MAILBAG

NATION MUST SPEND WHAT IT CAN AFFORD

Editor:

The Ford administration estimated a $1.9 billion deficit for the fiscal year of 1975 starting July 1st but Treasury Secretary William Simon predicts it will be $0 billion, it could go even higher if Congress insists upon piling on more and more spending programs.

Mr. Ford's efforts to trim some expenses in order to absorb the cost of the tax cut have been rebuffed time and time again, probably an $0 billion deficit doesn't disturb the men and women on Capitol Hill, whose nerve ends are desensitized since they are willing to concede to spending. But, to most Americans it is an unbelievable amount for their government to run in debt for a single year. Let's get just a few facts in the open why our deficits are increasing every year.

These grants and subsidies which are granted in the United States amount to $6 billion a year. Most of the time the public is not informed to whom these subsidies are donated and to what effect.

The National Science Foundation came into existence in 1950 but attracted little notice until the Russians lofted their first Sputnik in the fall of 1957, overnight science education became the in-thing, Congress reacted so generously that the N.S.F. now has a budget of 700 million a year. To a Wisconsin Senator's astonishing discovery, the N.S.F. has funded one grant of $84,900 for a study of why people fall in love, and another grant of $200,000 for a study of passionate love.

And let's not forget about these billions of American dollars which are actually being poured into the foreign countries on the assumption as aid which amounts to 164 billion dollars since 1946.

Critics have long warned continued deficit spending would cause inflation and ultimately devaluation of the dollar. Those predictions have come true. Congress is now considering fiscal 1975 aid requests. What can it do to bring order from the aid chaos that drains our economy. Congress must receive consolidated aid totals of appropriation requests so it can know the real costs of all spending proposals to make decisions, the taxpayer should know what he is paying for.

Paw Paw — The basket factory of the Fruit Growers package company here was destroyed by fire shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. The loss may reach $300,000. It was estimated shortly after the fire by District Fire Marshal Walter Burns of the state police. The factory was filled with bursting with fruit packages preparatory to the impending opening of the fruit harvest season. Burns said. For a time, a portion of the southwestern area of Paw Paw village was threatened by the towering flames and flying embers. The volunteer fire departments of two neighboring villages, Lawton and Lawrence, were dispatched to aid Paw Paw firemen in battling the spectacular fire, believed to have started over the driers in the center of the building.

Limited Wars Wear Us Thin

WASHINGTON — One lesson the United States should have learned after Korea, Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia: Never get into limited wars — they're impossible to win.

Limited wars, on our side, inevitably insure that in the end the enemy will gain his objectives. The war will be fought in allied territory. Most destruction, human suffering and economic dislocation will be among our allies — not among the enemy.

By prolonging the war, escalating, then deescalating, keeping its victim off balance and maneuvering the U.S. into spending billions on arms and material and perhaps lives as well, the aggressor can wear the patience of this country paper thin and, in the end, win by default.

No victim country, with its agriculture, industry, communications and government relentlessly and endlessly disrupted by guerrilla forces, can endure. No people, invaded for 20 years, can keep their morale and their spirits. And no army can go on forever defending with hope of ever going on the offensive. Bombings in retaliation can cause damage; they can also stimulate unity and resolve. They can never cause the disruption without end and complete feelings of hopelessness engendered by two decades of one-sided infiltration by political, psywar and military guerrilla forces.

Conventional wisdom has it that wars are disastrous for all concerned, victors and vanquished alike.

Some eminent historians, however, now believe many wars, perhaps most, have been started for economic profit. The aggressors, like bank robbers, hope to gain handsomely by the operation.

It has been noted that Russia, for example, has been most interested in stirring up "wars of national liberation" and other types of armed conflict in areas rich in natural resources. The Chinese, too, have not been backward in this regard on several continents.

If this war-for-profit theory is correct, the principle of limited wars, as adopted by the U.S. in Korea and Vietnam, will almost surely increase the likelihood of aggression of totalitarian rulers.

If he knows in advance, or is reasonably sure we've decided not to win, a dictator with no regard for human life has a situation made to order for his aggressions. He can pick a weak, rich prize and take it at relatively little risk to himself for his regime. If he loses the first dozen rounds or so, no one invades his territory. It may be bombed, but neither taken over nor destroyed. That is, he has a safe haven. He is thus free to recuperate and try again as many times as he wishes. An aggressor can lose 50 times and still win. The victim can win 100 times — and still have no peace. But if he loses once, all is over for he has no safe haven to retreat to.

What should be faced in this regard is that Hanoi has won a rich prize in the takeover of South Vietnam.

To begin with, the south is wealthy in natural resources — rice, fish, lumber, a host of other agricultural products, and probably rich in offshore petroleum.

South Vietnam is richer still as a result of the multi-billion economic aid program in that country over a decade — rich, that is, in miracle rice, pigs, farmers trained in improved agricultural methods and in the vast school and education expansion for Vietnamese youngsters from two years of reading, writing and arithmetic to six or eight, thus creating a skilled population needed for an industrial base. The U.S. had also, before it left, taken important steps in the training of a skilled economic bureaucracy.

Boldness Needed On Home Front

President Gerald Ford has now scored a big political plus with his no-nonsense response to the Mayaguez hijacking. Such success, however, will hardly be lasting unless he grasps a fundamental domestic political fact and learns how to handle it. In the strict sense of the word, a substantial segment of American opinion — a segment that no Republican Presidential contender can do without — is not conservative but counter-revolutionary.

Ford himself is one kind of conservative. He is attuned to the status quo. He is the sort of Chief Executive able in good and tranquil times to keep the system ticking along. You can count on him to veto most of the worst excesses of the present Congress. But Ford will not upset any established applecart.

If Ford were a Supreme Court justice he would undoubtedly adhere to the principle of stare decisis is not good enough politically in 1975 and 1976.

Take the problem of bureaucracy in general and the case of the welfare bureaucracy in particular.

Everyone who is informed on the subject, without exception, knows that the present welfare structure contributes mightily to the disintegration of the welfare family. Everyone knows that it not only undercuts the father's psychologically necessary role as provider, but actually rewards the family if the father departs. Everyone knows that these disintegrating fatherless families perpetuate welfareism into the next generation, and the one after that.

Everyone agrees, furthermore, that the present welfare system should be replaced, lock, stock, and pork barrel, by a system of payments — family allowance, negative income tax, or whatever — that encourages the family to stick together. To this, everyone agrees, should be added incentives that encourage the father to be a provider.

Everyone knows all that. Yet it remains devilishly difficult to do it. The present malignant system is so huge and long-established, and connected with so many employees, clients, and vested interests, that is virtually immovable. You can add a new system to it, but you cannot replace the old system with a new one.

Indeed, the Federal employees in the present structure look their jobs in good faith. They have mortgages in Arlington and Silver Spring, and they have bills and families, and they exist in great numbers. In California, Ronald Reagan learned how toughly public employees can fight when he went against their interests with this tax-limiting amendment.

Discouraged over the possibility of reform that he has communicated to me the following desperate expedient. The only way to phase out a big Federal program, he thinks, would be to offer the present bureaucrats half pay, for life, for doing nothing. In due course, mortality would phase out the jobs, which is much more than Congress is likely to do.

The buses continue to roll, the judges continue to impose their ukases, and children of both races to suffer.

President Ford has so far shown no stomach for disrupting these and many other abuses. He respects the prerogatives of established power, and he conciliates the powerful interests. He may have lived in Washington for so long that disrupting any of this has become unthinkable.

But such conservatism, good enough for happier times, is clearly inadequate now. Ford has shown that he is a fighter in the Mayaguez affairs, but he is going to have to fight a lot harder here at home.

Twin Cities Rites Will Honor War Dead

The nation's war dead will be honored during four observances in Twin Cities area cemeteries on Memorial day, Monday.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1137 of Benton Harbor will sponsor its traditional service at 2 p.m. by Soldier's Cross in Crystal Springs cemetery.

Twin Cities Disabled American Veterans Chapter 17, will sponsor a service at 11 a.m. in North Shore Memory Garden, Hagar township.

All veterans organizations are invited to join in both observances.

The Knights of Columbus Council 1120 will hold its annual outdoor mass at 9 a.m. in Calvary cemetery, Benton township. Celebrants will be the Rev. Leroy White, pastor of St. John's Catholic church, Benton Harbor, and the Rev. Francis Olkal, associate pastor. Members of the K of C fourth degree, the highest award bestowed by the organization, will form an honor guard. In the event of rain, the mass will be in St. John's church.

St. Joseph firemen, in full dress uniform, will leave the station at 9 a.m. in a fire truck for several steps. The first will be at Firemen's monument in the north end of Bluff park off Lake boulevard.

Flags then will be planted by firemen in City cemetery, Resurrection cemetery, Riverview cemetery, and North Shore Memory Garden. Firemen before Monday also will plant a flag at Stevensville cemetery.

"Togetherness" is the theme of the VFW ceremony at Soldiers' Cross. Rev. White will be the principal speaker. Rabbi Wayne Franklin of Temple B'nai Shalom, Fairplain, will give the invocation, while the Rev. Arthur L. Jelks, Sr., of Union Memorial AME church will give the benediction.

Members of all veterans organizations and their auxiliaries are urged to attend, with full colors, according to co-chairmen, Mrs. Raymond Bishop, a past president of Post 1137 auxiliary, and

Allen Arnt, a past Post 1137 commander. Citizens, likewise, are urged to attend E

The ceremony will include taps by Bill Peden of Post 1137, and the post firing squad. The Twin City Drum, Bugle and Fife Corps, also will participate.

Participants in the DAV observance in North Shore Memory Garden will include the Twin City drum, bugle and fife organization, VFW 1137 and auxiliary, its firing squad and bugler, World War II Mothers, Gold Star Mothers. Veteran Jim Lounsbury will give the invocation.

Benton Township Gets $778,000 Federal Grant

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has approved a $778,000 grant to Benton township for first-year Community Development funding. Announcement was made Friday by the office of applied for $981,000, but was told by HUD to trim $203,000 from the first-year budget because the township was participating in Model Cities programs beyond the Dec. 31 deadline for Model Cities funding.

The City of Benton Harbor also is in Model Cities and was ordered to cut its Community Development program budget. The city's application is still pending before HUD.

Judd Spray, Benton director of community development, said HUD approval "is good news." He explained that some of the $203,000 allocated Model Cities might be "recaptured" for community development if it is not all spent by June 30.

Spray said Benton's first assignment with the community development grant will be a township-wide study to define needs in public works and housing.

Public works are expected to focus on drainage. The housing survey will determine homes with structural defects and if they are worth rehabilitating and the need for new single-family homes.

Community Development grants replace Model Cities, Neighborhood Development and other federally-funded programs.

AWARD TO WHIRLPOOL: James Lawrence, buyer of portable laundry appliances for Sears, presents the Sears "Symbol of Excellence" award to August Brogno, general manager of Whirlpool's St. Joseph Division. Award, which was sixth for Whirlpool, was presented for "demonstrating quality workmanship, high standards of product reliability, efficiency and dependability of supply." Whirlpool's St. Joseph division manufactures Kenmore 29-inch automatic and compact washers for Sears. Sears is supplied by 12,000 manufacturing firms, of which 459 were presented award. ## Berrien Canamer Adding Photo, Essay Competition

Bill Wallis, president of Berrien County Olympian and CanAmer Games, Inc., has announced an expansion of activities this year to include photography and essay competition. "In conjunction with the Berrien County Bicentennial commission and the Twin City Camera club, CanAmer felt that our international friendships and understanding should be extended to non-athletic efforts," Wallis stated.

The themes of the two new competitive areas are: Essays — "What It Means To Me To Be An American," and Photography — "Typically American." CanAmer will also feature the winning Berrien County Bicentennial logo designed by Jack Claeys of Lake Michigan Catholic high school at the CanAmer competition in Brantford, Ont., the weekend of Aug. 8.

The decision was made at a recent meeting of the International CanAmer board in Flint. The Canadians are scheduling similar contests to explain to U.S. residents their feelings as Canadians. Top winners in the photography and essay areas as well as Claeys will be invited to join the Berrien county CanAmer contingent in Brantford this year.

Betty Valantiejus, Bicentennial commission representative from New Buffalo, organized both the logo and essay contests. Harold Anrus, president of Twin Cities Camera club, is chairman of the photography competition.

Photographic entries are due at the CanAmer office, 144 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, Monday, July 7. The judging, open to the public, will be held in St. Joseph Holiday Inn at 1 p.m. Sunday, July 13.

Photographers may compete in one of the two age groups: 17 and under, or 18 and over as of July 1, 1975. Both slides and prints — black and white, and color — are eligible for entry, although a maximum of four per entrant is designated.

According to Chairman Andrus, entrants are urged to carefully examine the photography rules and attach official entry blanks to their photos.

CanAmer retains the rights to reprint and publish for CanAmer promotion purposes any picture entered in this competition without royalties, credits or other remuneration to the exhibitor beyond awards given during competition.

KILLED IN ULSTER

BELFAST: Northern Ireland (AP) — A spate of shooting and bombing at the start of the weekend left two Roman Catholic brothers dead and 11 persons injured in Northern Ireland.

Candidates Invited To Discussion

St. Joseph Education association has invited three candidates for the board of education to appear on a panel discussion next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Milton junior high school.

Announcement was made by Dan Holt, public relations chairman of the SJEA. Holt said each of the candidates will be asked to give a five-minute resume on qualifications and reasons for candidacy.

Questions will then be directed to them by teachers and from the floor by citizens who are urged to attend.

Candidates in the June 9 election are William Glines, Joseph R. Naines, and Mrs. Rosalyn Von Koenig. They are running for the seat now held by Glines.

Drug Abuse Chief To Talk

DECATUR — John Deren, director of the Van Buren drug abuse program is to be the speaker at the Van Buren county Democratic committee meeting Wednesday, May 28. The meeting will start at 8 p.m. and be held in the Decatur township hall, Leah Bennison, committee chairman, said.

'Benton Harbor Week' Committee Tells Schedule

Plans for Benton Harbor Week, May 25-31, were announced today by the committee sponsoring the event.

In April, the city commission voted to proclaim Benton Harbor Week as a time "in which city residents can take time for appreciation and appraisal of the city."

The Benton Harbor Week committee has scheduled Clergy — Churches day, tomorrow; Senior Citizens day, Monday; Youth in Government day, Tuesday; Business and Industry day, Wednesday; Athlete's day, Thursday, and Citizenship day, Friday.

Clergy — Churches day tomorrow calls for "churches to honor ministers and members for their dedicated services."

A reception will be held Monday at the Morton House, from 1 to 3 p.m., as part of Senior Citizens day in which all senior citizens are invited. Tuesday, selected youth will serve in the capacity of elected city officials as part of Youth in Government day. A luncheon will be held from 11:30 to 1 p.m. Wednesday at Ramada Inn, south of Benton Harbor, for Benton Harbor businessmen on Business - Industry day.

Athlete's day, Thursday, will honor area athletes with a sports celebrity visiting the city.

A banquet will wrap up the week Friday honoring some of the city's citizens. The banquet will be held at Ramada Inn at 6 p.m. Tickets for the banquet are available from city hall or members of the committee.

Members of the Benton harbor week committee are Ann Yates, publicity chairman; Frances Laity, chairman of Citizenship day; Bill Joseph, chairman, Clergy - churches day; Helen Ford, chairman, Senior Citizens day, Robert Lumpkin, chairman, Business - Industry day, and Virgil May, chairman, Youth in Government day.

Fire Hits Building In Baroda

The Baroda fire department extinguished a fire at a vacant building in the middle of the Baroda village business district Friday.

Fire chief Leonard Tollas estimated the damage to be about $1,000 to $2,000 to the building owned by Sam Somora Jr. Nother nearby buildings were damaged.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was about 3 p.m. The building was located in the 9000 block of First street.

Anti-Crime Unit On Program

The Crime Prevention Unit (CPU) of the Benton Harbor police department will present a program on "Neighborhood Watch" next Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Pleasant Grove Baptist church, 710 East Main street.

Neighborhood watch is a program in which residents report to police suspicious incidents on the streets and at the homes of neighbors when they are away. It's mutual protection with neighbor looking after neighbor.

Rev. C.L. Woodson is pastor of Pleasant Grove Baptist church.

EARNs DEGREE: Mary Jane Bronfenbrenner of St. Joseph has been awarded bachelor of arts degree in psychology and math from Simmons college in Boston. She is daughter of Mrs. Jack Bronfenbrenner of 2727 South Lakeshore drive, St. Joseph, and plans to join technical staff of Mikre corporation of Bedford, Mass.

EARNs MASTER'S: Danette J. Blakeslee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Ruhno, 199 Chippewa road, Fairplain, has received a master's degree in elementary education from Boise, Idaho, State university. A first grade teacher at Boise, she is the wife of Edwin A. Blakeslee III formerly of Benton Harbor.

Supervisor's Condition 'Fair'

ALLEGAN — Reginald King, Clyde township supervisor, remains listed in fair condition today at Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo, where he is being treated for injuries suffered in a two-car accident southeast of here Friday, May 16.

King, 33, of 117th avenue, Fennville, suffered a fractured leg and collarbone, plus head, chest and abdominal injuries, according to a hospital spokesman.

Driver of the other auto, Brenda Stough, 23, of rural Allegan, was treated and released from Allegan General hospital and a passenger in her car, Patricia Lynch, 33, of Allegan, was released from Allegan General hospital Thursday, May 22.

The accident remains under investigation by the sheriff's department.

Summer school for high school and adult education students will be held at night this summer at Lakeshore high school, according to Mrs. Dorothy Hildebrand, student services and adult education director at Lakeshore.

Mrs. Hildebrand said the night high school summer classes were believed to be a first for this area, and students will attend classes two evenings per week, per class, instead of every day as required in the traditional day-summer school.

Classes begin June 16 and will run through Aug. 12. There will be 17 sessions, two evenings per week, from 6:30 to 10 p.m. Monday and Wednesday, or Tuesday and Thursday. There is a possibility of earning one-half credit for two nights per week or one credit for four nights, Mrs. Hildebrand said. Cost will be $30 per class and classes will be offered only in those subject areas where there is sufficient interest.

Classes are open to all students from any area high school.

Mrs. Hildebrand said the Veterans administration approval has been granted for the program and veterans may qualify for benefits while attending classes, she said. In addition, a special afternoon class will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays from 2:30 to 6 p.m. for sixth, seventh and eighth grade students who need to improve their reading skills at any level.

Proposed night summer school offerings include: English; history; government; theatre; rapid reading; comprehension; math; science; psychology; sociology; bookkeeping; typing; art; physical education; drafting; blue print reading; upholstery; conversational Spanish.

Enrollment is now underway and interested persons can contact Mrs. Hildebrand or Gene Ball at Lakeshore high school. Some classes have limited space available, so early enrollment is encouraged, Mrs. Hildebrand said.

Health-Safety Fair For Families

JUNE EVENT: Mrs. Peter Staelens, left, demonstrates Resusci-Anne to Samantha Baker, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Baker, and Kim Wooten, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.K. Wooten. A demonstration of Resusci-Anne will be a part of the Health and Safety Fair, sponsored by Lakeshore public schools in cooperation with the PTO on Saturday, June 7, from noon to 6 p.m. in the high school band room and gymnasium. (Staff photo)

Lakeshore Schools

Lakeshore public schools, in cooperation with the PTO, will sponsor a Health and Safety Fair Saturday, June 7, from noon to 6 p.m. in the high school band room and gymnasium.

The entire family is invited to the free event.

State health and safety agencies and organizations will volunteer their services to present materials, instructions, demonstrations and displays on health and safety education.

According to Betty Verduin, RN, director of the schools health services, "This fair is being presented to the public in hopes that the knowledge gained may nourish, protect or save one of the most precious possessions we have — human life."

In addition to Mrs. Verduin, those serving on the fair committee include Mrs. Horace Ruderick, PTO president; Mrs. Kenneth Baker, food chairman; and Mrs. William Wooten, publicity chairman.

Among the agencies planning to participate are American National Red Cross, Berrien county chapter; Michigan Lung Association; American Cancer Society, Berrien county unit; Riverwood Community Mental Health Center; Lakeshore Lions club; Coast Guard auxiliary; YWCA; Rampart Ambulance Service; Benton Harbor Fire department; Twin City Area Safety Council; Law Enforcement department; and Berrien County Public Health department.

The health area of the fair will include smoking, alcohol, drug abuse, respiratory diseases, diabetes, epilepsy, vascular disease, nutrition, cancer, vision and hearing, dental health, immunizations, chiropractic, mental health, venereal diseases, physical fitness and weight control, medication, Red Cross and first aid.

The safety area will present child abuse, Resusci-Anne, fire safety, construction and home safety, snowmobiling safety, swimming, boating, radiation and nuclear safety, Safetyville, skiing, crime prevention, pesticide safety, scuba safety and trampoline safety.

Such films as "Safety on the School Bus," "Safety After School," "The Talking Car," "Telephone for Help" and "Danger—Poison" will be shown.

Prepare Pancakes Ahead

Most pancakes can be prepared ahead for later use — in a quick, easy breakfast, an elegant entree or casserole, or with fancy varieties in a sauce.

Prepare pancakes, fold, roll or stack. Cover and refrigerate or freeze for later use.

To serve pancakes, reheat in toaster or oven, or fill and heat in the oven or heavy frypan over low heat in small amount of butter or sauce.

Friday Vows

MRS. STEPHEN PETLICK
Jeanne Hubka

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen David Petlick are on a wedding trip to Florida following their marriage Friday, May 23, at St. Joseph Catholic church, St. Joseph. The Rev. Fr. George Ross performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride, the former Miss Jeanne Hubka, are Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Hubka, 2175 Truman drive, Benton Harbor. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Petlick, 555 Jakway avenue, Benton Harbor.

The bride wore a nylon crepe gown designed with a cape and trimmed with venise lace. A matching headpiece held her elbow length veil and she carried sweetheart roses, miniature carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Susan Wendt was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Tina Schmidt, Miss Linda Mihalik and Miss Kathy Feldkamp. Miss Michelle Petlick was junior bridesmaid.

Flower girl was Lisa Marschke.

Serving as his brother's best man was Michael Petlick. Ushers were James Hann Jr., Brian Hubka, brother of the bride, Richard Zeller, Ted Panagakes Jr. and Leonard Seymour.

A reception was held at Point O' Woods Country club, Benton Harbor.

Following their wedding trip, the couple will make their home at 3340 Notre Dame drive, Stevensville.

The bride is a graduate of Lake Michigan Catholic high school and is a student at Western Michigan university. She is employed as a salesclerk at Sears, Roebuck and Company, Benton Harbor. Her husband, a graduate of Lake Michigan Catholic high school, is employed as a driver-salesman by Pepsi Cola Bottling Company, St. Joseph.

CLUBS • CHURCH • FAMILY • FASHION SCHOOL • HOME • SOCIETY Around the clock with WOMEN

Ordained Women Early In History

WASHINGTON — Contrary to a fairly widely accepted impression, churches of the evangelical tradition have historically been in the vanguard in ordaining women to the preaching ministry, an article in the May issue of "Christianity Today" says.

"It is evangelical Christianity, especially in its more revivalistic forms, that after, perhaps, Quakerism and Unitarianism has given the greatest role to women," Donald W. and Lucille Sider Dayton say in an article entitled "Women as Preachers: Evangelical Precedents."

"Denominations in the National Association of Evangelicals have by and large ordained women earlier, in large numbers, and more consistently than those in the National Council of Churches," they write.

The article argues, however, that the distinction is not nearly as pronounced as it used to be. "And the extent to which this practice has declined in recent years may be better attributed to a general accommodation to the dominant culture, seen also in the decline of other distinctive behavior patterns."

In their historical review of the preaching status of women in evangelical churches from the end of the 18th century until early in the present century, the writers enumerate several examples of women preachers who rose to some prominence in write.

Layered Look

DOMANTIC: The hit of the Ted Lapidus show in Paris was this two-piece summer suit with beaded lace hem, cuffs and collar of classic white cotton. The designer maintained the loose, flowing, layered look of last season instead of the tight "sheath" silhouette endorsed for the season by such designers as St. Laurent, Balmain, Ungaro and Cardin.

SH Art League Lists Winners

SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven Art League awarded to best of show to multi-media, "Pink Lady," by Cheryl Brezezinski, South Haven, at the 25th annual Indoor Art exhibition which was held at the Epiphany Episcopal church, South Haven.

Whitney Love Sevin, associate professor of art at Grand Valley State colleges, was judge.

First place winners include "Steve French, watercolor," "The Barn," Laverne Downing, pastel, "Ghost Mine," and Fran Larsen, multi-media.

Those receiving honorable mention were Kate Boerna, Lisa Dubuisson, Hazel Maxwell, Wildarene Tourtelotte, Laverne Downing, Alice Johnson, Mary Froelich and Jane Anderson, pastel; Betty Jones, David Ticknor and Mildred Robbins, oil; E.R. Appleyard and Leon Kriesten, watercolors; Karen Fragoules, textiles; Florence Blair, mixed media; Peggy Lang, pen and ink, and Christine Howen, macramé.

Special awards were presented to Norma Sherwood for quilting and Neil Goodrich for wood carving.

Those receiving second place were Kathy Shanley, graphics, "Trees"; Wildarene Tourtelotte, pastel, "Autumn Days"; Vada Strother, sculpture, "Rural Wrappings"; Cheryl Brzezinski, collage, "Everything In My Box"; Miriam Roberts, oil painting, "Longjohn Slough"; Fran Larsen, watercolor, and Fae Plumhoff, acrylic, "Autumn Beach".

Third place winners were Renee Acerra, pencil work; Marge Greiffendorf, oil, "Floral II"; Kent Oberg, ceramic sculpture; Diane Lynne Cheeseman, acrylic, "Undercover Dove"; Laverne Downing, pastel, "Ghost Mine"; and Fran Larsen, multi-media.

USA Aids Protein Need

The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations says that the world's population needs animal protein for up to one-third of total protein requirements.

FAO supports livestock production as an effective way to use otherwise unproductive land and inedible (to humans) grain residue.

Catherine Booth refused to marry William Booth until he capitulated to her egalitarian principles. Though the founding of the Salvation Army is usually attributed to William, Catherine was at least as important and was apparently the better preacher. Thousands attended her 'revival services,' sometimes advertised by the slogan 'Come and hear a Woman Preach.'

The writing team notes that the Wesleyan Methodists (the oldest branch of the current Wesleyan church) had hosted the first Women's Rights convention, held in the Wesleyan chapel in Seneca Falls, N.Y., in 1848. The Wesleyans began to ordain women in the early 1860s; it was almost a century later (1956) that the mainline Methodist church granted full ordination to women.

A number of the evangelical churches founded in the late 18th and early 20th centuries explicitly endorsed and practiced the ordination of women, the "Christianity Today" article says. The Church of God (Anderson, Ind.), founded in 1861, had many women among its early leaders and preachers, perhaps as many as 20 to 25 percent. The Church of the Nazarene, founded in 1894, wrote into its original constitution a guarantee of the right of women to preach.

The writers concede, however, that the granting of full ordination rights to women "has declined in recent years, especially since World War II. In the Church of the Nazarene, for example, where in 1908 20 percent of the ministers were women, the figure was only six percent in 1973," they say.

"No doubt there are many reasons for this. One is the increasing 'professionalization' of the ministry. With the growth of evangelical theological seminaries and increasingly sophisticated requirements for the ministry, women in general and lay people in general have both found their roles in the churches reduced." The "dominant culture" has also had its influence, they say.

Churches Plan Special Events

MUSICAL EVENTS THIS WEEKEND

To Host District Meeting

BISHOP WELLS

Community Church of God in Christ, 870 East Washington, Benton Harbor, will host the annual district meeting of District No. 6 Monday, May 26, through Saturday, May 31, according to Bishop Nathaniel Wells Sr., pastor.

Two special events will be held preceding the meeting with a Parade of Talents Saturday, May 24, and a Pre-Musical Sunday, May 25.

The Parade of Talents will be held at 8:30 p.m. and will include Charles Miller, organist for the First Church of Deliverance, Chicago; Gospel Messengers, Sounds Unlimited and Pat Wells, Benton Harbor; and a group from the Pentecostal Temple Church of God in Christ, South Haven.

The program is being sponsored by the Churches of God in Christ from Muskegon, Mendon and Benton Harbor.

The Pre-Musical program will be held Sunday, May 25, at 8:30 p.m. Featured will be the Rev. Mickie Davis, organist; the Davis Trio; Marcella Jones, Gospel soloist; Minus Thompson, guitarist and Minus Thompson, guitarist.

The district meeting will open Monday, May 26, with the observance of state bishop's day with Elders Nathaniel Wells Jr., Benton Harbor; Luther Chaney, Mendon; and Sam Means; Muskegon, in charge.

Bishop J.S. Bailey of Detroit, pastor of Seth Temple and Bailey Cathedral, state bishop of southwestern Michigan and national committeeman of the Church of God in Christ, will speak at 7 p.m. Other meetings Monday are planned at noon and 2 p.m.

In charge of the Tuesday meetings at noon, 2 and 7 p.m. will be Alex McNutt, Willie Leslie and Robert Dockins.

Wednesday will be Sunday school day with Superintendent Phil Willis in charge.

District Missionary Ruth Atterberry will be in charge of Thursday programs.

Friday will be District Superintendent's day with Elders Nathaniel Wells Jr. and David Pruett in charge.

The concluding meeting on Saturday will be youth day with various events scheduled and concluding with a sermon by Bishop Nathaniel Wells Sr.

UCC General Synod Agenda Similar To 1637 Meeting

NEW YORK, N.Y. — In 1637 the first church Synod in America was called by the Congregationalists of New England to "consider the abounding errors and evils of the times and to suggest a remedy."

Proposals for dealing with contemporary errors and evils will be on the agenda when their heirs, delegates to the General Synod of the United Church of Christ, meet in Minneapolis, Minn., June 27-July 1.

The United Church of Christ, formed by union of the Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed denominations, has 6,617 churches across the nation with 1,900,000 members. The biennial meeting in Minneapolis will be the 10th since the formation of the denomination in 1857.

Twenty-five Puritan pastors represented all the churches in New England at the first Synod in Cambridge, Mass. Close to 2,000 clergy and laity from 49 states and Puerto Rico will attend the 1975 meeting, 748 of them being voting delegates.

Some of the "errors and evils" on the agenda of the Synod of 1975 will be the world food crisis, destruction of the environment, inequities in the civil and military justice systems, discrimination against gay and bisexual persons, racial oppression in Southern Africa, economic injustice at home and abroad.

The General Synod will also be concerned about the basic health of the church itself, says the Rev. Dr. Robert V. Moss, president of the United Church of Christ. "Two of the fundamental issues with which we will be dealing are the continuing search for faith and the vitality of the local church."

The first Synod was called to consider questions of belief which were creating widespread dissension among the people who had fled England for religious liberty only 17 years before. The "Antinomian heresy" and the preaching of Mrs. Anne Hutchinson bitterly divided friends and relatives.

"It used to be said in the churches that 'doctrine divides and services unites.' Today, there seems to be a fundamental unity about doctrine but division about how the church serves in the world," according to Dr. Moss.

"The only way to face up to these differences is to look at the issues of our day in the light of the biblical, theological and historical traditions of the church," the United Church president said. "Unfortunately in the name of relevance the contemporary church has all too often cut itself loose from its roots and as a consequence has given up its unique role in society."

THE BIBLE

188. Young Joash Becomes King

When Athaliah, the mother of King Ahaziah of Judah, learned that her son was dead, she attempted to kill all of his children. The year-old son Joash, however, was rescued by Jehoshabea, a sister of King Ahaziah. She stole the boy from among the king's children as they waited to be slain, and hid him and his nurse in a storeroom of the Temple where they lived for six years.

When Joash was 7 years of age, Jehoiada the priest swore the officers of the palace guard and the queen's bodyguard to secrecy, and showed them the king's son. He then instructed them to guard the young boy. "And he brought forth the king's son, and put the crown upon him, and anointed him; and they clapped their hands, and said, God save the king." (II Kings 11:12)

Athaliah rushed in, and shouted treason, but Jehoiada calmly instructed the guard to execute her outside the Temple. Then he made a covenant between the Lord, the king, and the people, that they would be the Lord's people.

HARTFORD UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
(Tom Renner photo)

HARTFORD — The Hartford United Methodist church was dedicated in special ceremonies May 18.

The church was constructed in 1961 to replace the congregation's former building which was destroyed by fire.

Church records show that white settlers lived in the Hartford area as early as 1836. Church services were held in homes whenever a minister could come to the area.

The first Methodist Sunday school was organized in 1838.

Members of the Baptist denomination and the Methodist group conducted a union Sunday school and shared prayer services.

Methodists organized and built their original church in 1867 and other churches in the community were authorized to use the building when the Methodist congregation was not using it with the Baptist congregation granted the first privilege.

The church was remodeled several times and addition additions were built until fire destroyed the original structure Feb. 25, 1960.

After the fire, the congregation met for a period in the Red Top restaurant and then rented a room in the elementary school building until the new church was completed in 1961.

The first pastor appointed to serve the congregation was the Rev. James Buel, who served the churches in Keeler, Wayne, Hamilton and Hartford starting in 1862.

Current pastor of the church is the Rev. Jean Crabtree. The old church was known as the "Church with the lighted window" and that window was salvaged and incorporated into the new building as were the chancel furniture and lighting fixtures.

The century old church bell from the original building was mounted this year near the entrance drive to the church.

Deadline

Contributors to the church news are reminded that the deadline for such news to be received in this office is noon Wednesday preceding Saturday publication.

To Appear At Local Churches

Jim Smith, baritone soloist from Detroit, will perform at two twin city churches Sunday, May 25.

Smith will perform during the 10 a.m. worship service at First Baptist church, St. Joseph, and present a sacred concert at 6 p.m. at Napier Parkview Baptist church, Benton Harbor.

Smith was born of missionary parents in the Congo where he lived for 11 years. He attended Wheaton Academy, Faith Bible Academy and is a graduate of Detroit Bible college.

Smith served as minister of youth and music and then as co-pastor of Warrendale Community church, Dearborn, for 13 years. Last fall he entered into a full-time musical ministry. He also has a daily radio program over station WMIJ, Detroit.

Missionaries To India To Be At BH Church

Dr. George E. Somers, United Methodist missionary to India, will be guest minister at the 9:45 a.m. worship service Sunday, May 25, at the Peace Temple United Methodist church, Benton Harbor.

Following the service, he will meet with the adult and youth sections of the Sunday school.

A potluck dinner will be held in Temple hall at noon followed by a short slide presentation. Dr. Somers will speak on "Why India?" The public is invited.

Dr. Somers first went to India in 1962 under the United Methodist Board of Missions after serving as a pastor in the West Michigan Conference for seven years.

While in India, Dr. Somers and his wife, Joyce, were both involved in leadership training and adult education. Mrs.

Somers supervised 13 elementary schools (mission sponsored) and Dr. Somers was district superintendent for 2½ years of his first term and served as director of the Theodori rural development project in Bihar for five years.

Since 1971, when he returned from India, he has been on the teaching staff of Adrian college in the sociology - anthropology department. He has a bachelor of arts degree from Taylor university, master of arts degree from Michigan State university and doctorate degree from MSU.

He and his wife will leave June 17 for India where they will set up graduate courses in social science at both Lucknow Christian college and Isabella Thoburn college. They will be returning to India as missionaries to the United Methodist church.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

Matthew 5:1-6

One day as the crowds were gathering he went up the hillside with his disciples and sat down and taught them there. "Blessed men are very fortunate!" he told them, "for the Kingdom of Heaven is given to them. Those who mourn are fortunate! for they shall be comforted. The meek and lowly are fortunate! for the whole wide world belongs to them. 'Happy are those who long to be just and good, for they shall be completely satisfied. Happy are the king and merciful, for they shall be shown mercy.'"

Final Program Sunday

The final program for Second Baptist church's centennial observance will be held Sunday, May 25, at 4 p.m. at the church, 600 Lynch street, Benton Harbor.

The Sunday school of the church will present "What My Church Means To Me" and choirs of the church will present the music.

The church was founded in May of 1875 and has been holding special programs this month for the observance. The Rev. Donald Adkins is pastor.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Tears Better Than Bottle

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 21-year-old male. My problem, Ann, is that when I get the least little bit upset I cry. It's very embarrassing because I've cried in front of people whose respect and esteem mean a lot to me. I've done this all my life and it's beginning to knock my ego to pieces. I've never heard of a 21-year-old male who cried so much. Why am I so different? What can I do about it? — Ashamed Of Myself

Dear A.O.M.: You may not be as different as you think. Many males cry, but they do it privately. And crying isn't such a bad thing. Weepers aren't necessarily losers. It can be a healthy release for anxiety and frustration.

Since the real problem is your fear of ridicule, my advice is to get off by yourself when you feel the tears coming on. If you've been a weeper all your life, chances for changing this pattern are slim. (P.S. A note of consolation: Tears are better than bottled rage which can cause ulcers.)

Smell Cools Love

Dear Ann Landers: I wonder how many wives among your readers have my problem. I am accused by my husband of being frigid, cold and unresponsive. Why doesn't he take inventory and ask himself such questions as these: "When did I last shower, use a deodorant or brush my teeth? Am I sober? Does my breath reek of beer or booze?"

I'm basically an affectionate person. When we married nearly 20 years ago, we were very much in love. Shortly after our honeymoon I became disenchanted. My husband's lack of personal hygiene was something I couldn't deal with. I hinted at first. Nothing changed. Then I came right out and told him. Still nothing

Buchanan Meetings

BUCHANAN — Budding Friendships Garden club will meet at 8 a.m. Tuesday, May 27, at the home of Mrs. Winifred Paris, 5444 Buffalo road.

Mrs. John Jones of New Buffalo will give an egg demonstration.

BUCHANAN — Women's auxiliary of the Bertrand township volunteer fire department will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 29, in the fire station's club room.

There will be election of officers.

Check your car's mechanical parts and safety devices such as fan belts, radiator hoses, windshield wipers, seat belts, tires, wiring and battery terminals for damage and wear.

A little time spent now can spare you the nuisance of a mechanical breakdown during the vacation driving months ahead, the car care specialists say.

Don't forget a good cleaning inside and out. The vinyl or upholstered seats may have taken a beating during the winter. They can be cleaned with a foaming interior cleaner that also works well on the vinyl door panels and carpeting.

CHICKEN LEGS

A one-pound package of frozen chicken legs yields about 10.

ANN LANDERS

changed. This man is a college graduate. He holds an executive position with a well-known firm, is considered charming and intelligent — until he drinks too much, which is becoming more frequent. Our sex life is almost nil because of his lack of bodily cleanliness and excessive drinking.

Please print this letter, Ann. It's too late to help our marriage, but perhaps it will help someone else's. — Just Sad

Dear Sad: When people disregard personal hygiene to the point that they become offensive, it is often something beyond "carelessness." It's mental illness.

I've received similar letters from men who have the same complaints about their wives. I hope your letter will move those who need it to seek outside help.

Second Life

Dear Ann: I think your advice to "Scarred Forever" (she found a bunch of dirty pictures among her dead father's belongings), was wrong. You said, "His ability to lead two completely different lives is a symptom of a severe personality disorder."

I am a bisexual who has a terrific marriage. But every month or so I like the "companionship" of another guy. I've been carrying on like this for 9 of the 11 years of our marriage. My wife would divorce me if she found out. Of course, I'd never leave dirty pictures lying around, but I don't believe I have a "severe personality disorder." It's just that my second life provides me with a necessary release.

You owe people like me a retraction. I'll accept the label "rat" but I resent being told I'm not normal. — Happy In Southern California

Dear Happy: I wouldn't call you a rat. I'd just say you are the unfortunate victim of a severe personality disorder.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex—Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

"Nice three-diamond bid, partner," said South. "We showed a 50-point profit due to my honors and they would have made three clubs."

"A very nice bid," replied North. "Too bad you didn't take the trouble to make three diamonds."

East had taken one club and shifted to the jack of hearts. South had taken his ace, played out five rounds of trumps, led a heart to dummy's king and a spade to his own king. West had produced the ace and South was held to eight tricks.

South should have made the contract. He could be certain that East didn't hold the ace of spades. He had dealt and passed and shown up with a long club suit headed by the ace-king.

There is no point playing a man for a card he can't have so it was up to South to try for an end play. Furthermore, since West almost surely held at least five hearts all that was necessary was to find a 2-2 trump break.

South should win the first heart in dummy and ruff a club. Then a trump to the nine; ruff the last club, and cash ace of trumps.

Both opponents will follow. Now South cashes ace of hearts, throws West in with the third heart and smiles happily.

Your Birthday

FOR SUNDAY, MAY 25, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your judgment is especially keen today. You have the ability to evaluate both sides of a question. Stand by your decisions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll be lucky today in a very unusual way. Someone is willing to share something of value, but he'll insist it be kept a secret.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Fortune smiles on your dealings with friends and partners today. A project of vital interest to both parties can be worked out harmoniously.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's a good idea to entertain the boss or someone who can help your career at home today. Under relaxed conditions strong bonds can be forged.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There's power in your words to inspire people and spur them to action today. Yours is the responsibility to move them in the right direction.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you have a financial situation involving family or relatives, it's a good day to work it out. The odds are in your favor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will receive information from two different sources today. It will be highly advantageous if you can take the best parts of each.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Accumulation of material resources will be easy for you at this time. People will mysteriously give you things you didn't expect.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A pet project will begin to fall into shape now. Another party who becomes interested will supply the missing pieces.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your best role today is being the man "in the closet." You can gain your ends best by helping others quietly. They'll know where the power is.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You can shine in a large crowd today. You'll gain personal satisfaction and you'll have much to contribute.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Aspects are excellent today for matters relating to your financial well-being and status. Keep a sharp eye out for opportunities.

MAY 25, 1975

You will be fortunate this year in matters relating to partnership affairs. You can also benefit from association with a large corporation.

FOR MONDAY, MAY 26, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll come out better in the long run today if you make certain adjustments in your immediate plans, to accommodate companions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you buy any merchandise today that's faulty, don't wait till later to return it. Time is not your ally.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try not to dominate the conversation today with those you meet socially. You'll learn something of value by being a good listener.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Something important you want to attend to will be left to the last minute today because of circumstances you can't control.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll pick up some information through a friend today. It won't be useful to him. You'll know where and how to adapt it for your purposes.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't let a pal dissuade you regarding a brand preference for something for your home. Be firm, especially if you've checked it out.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will come up with a unique way to handle a problem facing you today, though your methods will appear peculiar to an uninformed observer.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be imaginative in your business dealings today. An area that looks arid at first glance could spring a profit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't be afraid to change your mind today regarding an arrangement with an associate if you feel it's not to your advantage.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A responsibility you have to face today will not prove as awesome as you've let yourself believe. You'll handle it very cleverly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You won't get into full stride till later in the day. Don't be upset by some trivial roadblocks that occurred earlier.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Continue to keep a weather eye peeled for opportunities that can be gained at this time through close associates.

MAY 26, 1975

Through social connections you will make some very valuable contacts this year. You'll form an unusual, beneficial, alliance with one in particular.

FOR TUESDAY, MAY 27, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Keep your temper if you want others to co-operate with aims important to you. You'll lose their support if you're too aggressive.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Set a schedule today. Stick with it, or your efforts will be scattered too thin and nothing worthwhile will be achieved.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be careful today. You could be drawn into a friend's very complicated affairs and find yourself put on the spot.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't make any major decisions impulsively today, especially if what you decide has a direct effect upon another who's not present.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be extra cautious the next few days with work you're responsible for. Don't make moves without first consulting superiors.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll have to curb your extravagant tendencies today and tomorrow if you want to keep your budget intact.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It would be unwise at this time to put off handling domestic matters of importance that need attention now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't try to overpower others with your ideas today. If they're not buying, pressuring them won't do the trick.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't lend something you prize to a friend who you know from experience, is very careless with his own things.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're likely to change course too often today for your own good in order to try to satisfy the demands of others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You will be the source of your own undoing today if you behave in an impulsive manner. Plan your steps carefully.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't involve yourself in activities today and tomorrow that are out of reach financially. Live within your means.

Your Birthday

May 27, 1975

You'll become involved in a new enterprise this year. It could be quite profitable if the right parties are involved. Be very selective in choosing business associates.

Handicapped Ask State Not To OK Aid Cutbacks

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — More than 150 elderly and handicapped persons and those who care for them appeared at a hearing Friday to protest a proposed cutback in state aid for housekeeping services.

One wheelchair-bound man who receives housekeeping aid, Larry Edwards of Lansing, told a public hearing that reducing maximum monthly payments from $270 to $240 would make it difficult to hire qualified persons to care for the elderly and handicapped.

"Does anyone in this room have any idea of what it takes to even find a competent person to do this job for $270 per month?" said Edwards.

The cuts, which would save the state more than $625,000 between now and the end of June, were ordered by the director of the state Social Services Department, John Dempsey, to help balance the state budget.

"If the cuts go through they would reduce my pay to about 24 cents an hour," Edna Sears of Bay City said at a public hearing ordered by a Wayne County Circuit Court judge.

"I'm taking care of a 94-year-old lady seven days a week, 24 hours a day," said Mrs. Sears. "I do everything for her. I don't feel $268 a month is an awful lot to ask."

The cuts are being blocked temporarily by a Wayne County Circuit Court order which directed Dempsey to conduct a public hearing before he makes the cuts. Estimates are that 2,000 to 2,500 blind, elderly, disabled and welfare recipients receive up to $270 a month for housekeeping and would be affected by the reductions, said Sue Stine, director of basic adult services at the state agency.

Love It, Or 'Put It Away'?

DETROIT (AP) — One expert told Judy Fleszar her Dalmatian pup Freckles should be put to sleep because he's deaf.

But Mrs. Fleszar, whose 11-year-old deaf son Nick loves Freckles "a whole bunch," looked for another answer. "There must be someone who will take this dog. Someone, somewhere," she said. The family is unable to keep the pup because of limited finances.

Happily, she found someone Friday, when an Algonac family called Mrs. Fleszar after seeing newspaper pictures of the deaf puppy.

The family lives on a farm with five children and other dogs. They will pick up Freckles this weekend.

Freckles was born deaf six weeks ago to Mrs. Fleszar's Dalmatian, Spot. All other puppies in the litter were normal, but Freckles didn't wake up in the mornings when Mrs. Fleszar called the dogs for breakfast.

Dr. Roger Vandervort, a veterinarian, said: "According to every test I could run, the dog is definitely deaf. I told her loss of hearing does not prevent a pup from being a normal pet," Vandervort said.

But a dog breeder told Mrs. Fleszar the dog should be put to sleep.

Toni Curran of a local kennel said, "This dog isn't gonna do anybody any good. Before people start feeling sorry for it, the dog should be put away."

Mrs. Fleszar's son Nick is attached to Freckles, as any child would be to a favorite pet. Being deaf hasn't kept Nick from leading a normal life.

"Nick does whatever he wants to do," she said. "He's perfectly normal even without hearing. He's the terror of the neighborhood."

Nick was born deaf after his mother contracted German measles during pregnancy.

Until the Algonac family came to Freckles' rescue Friday, no one had been interested in taking Spot, Mrs. Fleszar said.

Congressmen Write Ford About Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine Michigan congressmen have written President Ford asking that the U.S. Justice Department argue for an end to busing proposals designed to desegregate Detroit schools.

Saying they are tired of waiting for action, they urged Ford to order the attorney general's intervention.

They noted that no one is now arguing before the court that massive busing may not be required under legislation passed in Congress last year.

The law, said the congressmen, restricts busing for desegregation to cases in which all other integration methods have been unsuccessful.

Those who signed the letter were: Reps. Lucien N. Nedzi, John D. Dingell and William M. Brodeur, all Detroit Democrats; James G. O'Hara, D-Utica; William D. Ford, D-Taylor; James J. Blanchard, D-Pleasant Ridge; William S. Broomfield, R-Birmingham; Marvin E. Esch, R-Ann Arbor and Bob Traxler, D-Bay City.

JFK Regime Linked In CIA Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rockefeller Commission has documents linking Cabinet officers in the Kennedy administration to discussion of the possible assassination of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, authoritative sources say.

The sources said the documents consist of:

—The minutes of a secret Aug. 10, 1962 meeting which show that the assassination of Castro was brought up at a meeting of high administration officials and then immediately dismissed.

—A memo written two days later by an assistant to then-Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara directing the Central Intelligence Agency to develop contingency plans for such an operation.

Meanwhile, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Friday that his Senate intelligence committee is exploring "in great particularity" the question of how high up in the government alleged orders for murder may have been given.

"There are many unanswered questions," a visibly angry Church told reporters after a closed three-hour session in which CIA Director William E. Colby was questioned on "the extent of the involvement that may have occurred in the matter of assassinations."

One source who has seen the minutes of the Aug. 10 meeting of a special group known as Operation Mongoose said that "the subject (of killing Castro) was raised and immediately dismissed."

However, this source and one other official confirmed the existence of a subsequent memo

Unrest Greets Lebanon's New Military Government

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Armed men from a dozen factions swarmed in the streets and set up roadblocks today as scattered gunfire and explosions greeted Lebanon's new military government.

Nouredin Rifai, 76, a retired brigadier general and chief of security, was appointed prime minister Friday night by President Suleiman Franjeh in hopes of controlling the warfare between rightists and Palestinian guerrillas.

A Moslem former premier, Saeb Salam, said: "We do not recognize this government at all. It is illegal."

But Yasir Arafat, chief of the Palestine Liberation Organization and guerrilla overlord, ordered all guerrillas to cease fire and stay out of Lebanese politics, according to a Palestinian source.

"It concerns the Lebanese only, and we have nothing to do with it. We will deal with the new reality according to the policies and attitudes toward us," Arafat was quoted as telling guerrilla leaders in Beirut.

Rifai pledged his eight-man government would begin efforts today to restore order.

However, the government did not directly intervene to end the four-day fighting which has left at least 50 persons dead and more than 200 wounded. Two cease-fires have failed to hold.

Gunfire and explosions were heard in two areas of Beirut today, but the heavy battling between Palestine guerrillas and irregular militia of the mostly Christian Phalange party seemed to have subsided.

It was the second recent outbreak of major fighting here. Last month 200 persons were killed and 500 wounded. Lebanon's 15,000-man army has not intervened in either case.

Prime Minister Rashid Solh resigned last week, angrily blaming the Phalange for the fighting.

Although Rifai is a Moslem, leading Moslem politicians attacked the formation of the military government.

Rashid Karami, a former prime minister, claimed "the formation of this military government is a violation of the democratic system and the constitution."

Socialist leader Kamal Jumblatt said the move was aimed against the Palestine liberation movement and complained that Moslems were not consulted on the formation of the government.

In this half-Christian, half-Moslem nation, an unwritten agreement provides that the president must be a Maronite Christian and the prime minister a Sunni Moslem.

Laos Anti-U.S. Tension Grows

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Lao workers today struck an American company which provided embassy security and demonstrators crowded outside the U.S. Embassy where officials were burning non-essential documents.

Meanwhile, the United States continued the evacuation of Americans from Vientiane to Bangkok today. A spokesman said there would be two or three daily flights with about 80 evacuees on each plane.

Employees of the Trans-Air Protection Service walked off their jobs this morning and occupied the company compound demanding severance pay. The firm, employing three Americans and 900 Lao, provided security guards for the American, British, Australian and Japanese embassies, and Royal Air Lao.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said only 13 Marines were guarding the American mission and added: "We don't know what we will do about security."

The spokesman said the company, registered in Las Vegas, Nev., was in the process of dissolving its Laos operation.

About 100 Lao employees of the U.S. Agency for International Development pressed around the Embassy gates and demanded two weeks of back pay.

A U.S. official, Capt. John Quinn, told the crowd the money could not be paid until student demonstrators leave the U.S. aid compound where financial records are kept.

The students held the compound for a fourth straight day, but the three Americans held inside — two Marines and a civilian — were apparently in good condition.

The embassy spokesman said the Foreign Ministry sent a note to American officials saying it wished to discuss the U.S. aid problem.

The spokesman said the burning of documents in some

U.S. mission offices was not a prelude to evacuating the embassy itself but followed the decision to abandon the provincial AID branches.

An American official said that about 2,000 Laos would be put out of jobs with the halting of AID operations. "The Laos don't know what they're doing," he said. "This will hit them hard."

The Communist Pathet Lao are said to have orchestrated the demonstrations in recent weeks that led to the closing of AID facilities. At the same time, Pathet Lao forces took over areas formerly held by the separate rightist military. Premier Souvanna Phouma said Friday he ordered right-wing troops not to fight back when the Pathet Lao moved in because he wanted to avoid a new civil war.

Nearly 100 newsmen arrived in Vientiane today on a flight from Saigon via Hanoi. Associated Press Special Correspondent Peter Arnett was among them. They all seemed to be in good condition.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman described security for Americans in Laos as "troubled and uncertain."

The spokesman, Robert Funneth, estimated that a total of 230 Americans had been flown out of Laos last week. He said many of the remaining 750 official Americans would be taken out next week, but he said no firm decision has been reached on the number to remain in Vientiane.

The U.S. Embassy in Vientiane said there were 800 official Americans and dependents and 200 other U.S. citizens in Laos before the evacuation began. Officials said the evacuation was "open ended."

Funneth said Friday the U.S. Embassy had "vigorously protested" at intensive police checks of Americans going in and out of the U.S. housing compound four miles outside of Vientiane.

Today, the Pathet Lao guards were letting Americans come and go with only a cursory check of their automobiles.

written by Maj. Gen. Edward G. Lansdale mentioning the development of contingency plans for the murder of Castro.

The memo was withdrawn immediately, one source said, although he acknowledged that subsequent attempts were made on Castro's life.

Both McNamara and Lansdale told a reporter they had no recollection of either the memo or the meeting. "I would never have tolerated consideration of a plan for assassination," McNamara said. "I sure don't remember that," Lansdale said about the memo.

In addition to McNamara, participants in the Aug. 10 meeting of the group whose official title was Special Group (Augmented), included former Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, CIA Director John A. McCone and George Bundy, special assistant to President Kennedy for national security affairs, the sources said. Rusk, McCone and Bundy have appeared before the eight-member Rockefeller panel while sources said McNamara and Lansdale have been questioned by commission staff members.

Mayaguez Sailor Claims Captain Ignored Warning

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The assistant engineer of the Mayaguez has accused the ship's owner and captain of ignoring official warnings of the potential dangers off the coast of Cambodia.

In a class action suit filed Friday in San Francisco County Superior Court on behalf of

Residence Damaged By Fire

BANGOR — Fire extensively damaged a Columbia township residence early today, according to Bangor firemen.

The fire caused an estimated $8,000 damage to the home owned by Hubard McMapp, of Bangor. The owner said the single story frame structure, located on CR-215, south of CR-384, was not occupied. McMapp said he was in the process of selling the building to his son-in-law, Donald Hambright of Allegan.

Bangor firemen said the building was engulfed in flames when they arrived at 3:30 a.m. The state fire marshal has been asked to investigate to determine cause of the blaze.

No Link Between Slayings

ORTONVILLE, Mich. (AP) — No evidence has been found to link the accused killer of two boys in Lapeer County to a similar slaying here this week, according to the Ortonville police chief.

"In my opinion, the guy (responsible for the most recent killing) hasn't been caught," Chief Tom Quisenberry said Friday, contradicting an earlier report by Flint police and the Oakland County prosecutor that the killings apparently were related.

Ferency Raps Reform Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Former Human Rights party gubernatorial candidate Zoltan Ferency says political reform legislation is unconstitutional and an invasion of privacy. The reform measure was introduced this week by a bi-partisan group of legislative leaders to regulate lobbyists and require candidates to disclose their business interests. Specific references in that legislation to campaign posters, their size and where they can be posted are a breach of First Amendment rights to free speech and expression, said Ferency, an associate professor of law at Michigan State University. He said Friday that disclosure of business interests is an invasion of privacy. Identifying of contributors required under current campaign laws also invades privacy, said Ferency.

Griffin Lauds Energy Policy

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — There is no easy way to solve the energy crisis but President Ford "has provided a sensible roadmap for developing energy policy," Sen. Robert Griffin said Friday night. Speaking to Michigan Oil and Gas Association members in Traverse City, Griffin said Ford's plan isn't the only answer to the energy crisis. "We must take steps to encourage more oil and gas production and to find other sources of energy in this country, or we will continue to go downhill toward more dependency on foreign oil," the senator said. "By 1977, we will be importing 50 per cent of our oil from foreign sources, which is terrible dependency on other countries," Griffin said.

Milliken Asks $137 Million

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has asked President Ford to sign legislation giving Michigan an additional $137 million for public service employment. The money would be used to finance more jobs for unemployed workers and youths out of school. In a telegram to the President, Milliken said Friday that the new money "is timely since about 3,000 current public service jobs in various counties will become unfunded within the next two months." The bill before Ford provides $1.6 billion to fund an additional 180,000 year-long public service jobs across the nation. Michigan expects to get about $121.5 million for public service jobs and $16 million for summer jobs for youth.

of judicial duties, misconduct in office, persistent failure to perform his duties, habitual intemperance or conduct that is clearly prejudicial to the administration of justice."

In addition, there are canons of judicial ethics which may be breached by an indictment or conviction and provide grounds for a complaint.

There are several other ways a judge technically could be removed, Gilmore said.

—The state Bar Grievance Board, through a complaint-hearing process similar to the tenure commission's, could disbar him. Since judges must be licensed lawyers, that would remove his qualification for sitting on the bench.

—The legislature could impeach him by a majority vote of the House and conviction by two-thirds of the Senate.

—The governor could remove him by a two-thirds vote of both houses of the legislature.

—The Supreme Court conceivably could issue an injunction against his holding his post. The formal actions would be in addition to any public pressure to take some kind of action. In the case of an indictment, a judge could step aside and put his salary in escrow until the case is ended.

Conviction, even if it is appealed, would presumably bring greater pressure for the judge to resign. But, as Gilmore said, there is nothing to force that action.

BLOOMINGDALE — Bloomingdale high school's loss of accreditation was due to over-crowding in its buildings, a University of Michigan spokesman told about 75 persons at a public information session here last night.

Philip Hansen, general consultant in charge of university accreditation services, said the school's accreditation status would be reconsidered if district voters approve a $4 million school construction bond proposal, June 9, according to Gerry Doolittle, Bloomingdale school board member who attended the meeting.

Doolittle quoted Hansen as saying that college entry is not the real problem facing students from non-accredited schools, but a second-rate education produced by over-crowding.

of Royal Oak, a northern Detroit suburb, in 1957. He was arrested for nine slaying incidents involving women and girls.

Found not guilty by reason of insanity, he was treated at state mental hospitals and mistakenly given a convalescent leave from a hospital in 1974. He returned several times for outpatient treatment, then disappeared.

Dr. William Gordon, a psychiatrist who examined Taylor in connection with the Royal Oak incident, said at the time Taylor would require life-long treatment. Returning Taylor to society would be "extremely poor judgment, total disregard for the welfare of society and grossly defective moral and ethical senses on the part of any and all who might participate in such efforts," the doctor said.

Edward Herbert Brown, 30, a Toledo, Ohio, nightclub operator, said he recognized clothing, jewelry and a notebook found with the bodies as the property of Lee Fletcher, 24, also of Toledo and "a close friend" of Brown's.

He said Miss Fletcher and another friend from Toledo, Debbie Henneman, 17, left with Taylor in March 1974 and had not been seen since.

He said he and four friends looked for the women several days after they failed to return. "I must have stood on their grave when I looked in the bedroom window," Brown said.

He said he and his friends saw chains, handcuffs and sexual devices inside the house.

Sheriff Richard A. Germond said a woman in San Diego who said she was Taylor's wife tipped Houston police that bodies were buried in the yard.

The home was purchased about two weeks ago by Jerry Smeenge, who said he and his family were "in utter shock" at the discovery.

The house is secluded, bordered on three sides by woods and 200 yards away from the nearest neighbor.

Ann Arbor police say they are looking into any link between Taylor and the 1973 disap-

California Malpractice Law Signed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. has signed into law a bill designed to provide California doctors malpractice insurance at a low initial cost.

But a spokesman for the California Medical Association said the governor's action Friday would not halt the statewide doctors' malpractice rate strike that began in northern California on May 1.

"You have to understand the bill provides no immediate solution to present crisis," said David Willett, a CMA attorney. Willett said the bill would not send doctors back to work.

The new law is designed to provide anesthesiologists and other doctors with malpractice insurance for between $1,000 and $2,000 for the rest of the year — rather than about $9,000, Brown's office said.

Review Board Clears Officer

NILES — William D. Nelson, 24, Warren drive, Dowagiac, wounded in an alleged escape attempt from police custody Thursday, was reported in satisfactory condition this morning at Berrien General hospital in Berrien Center.

Nelson was shot in the shoulder Thursday morning after he allegedly tried to flee from Niles township police officer Ronald Wainingham.

Wainingham was escorting Nelson back to Niles city jail after Nelson's arraignment in Niles Fifth District court on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Thomas Gipson, Niles township police chief, said Wainingham reported he ordered the fleeing prisoner to halt three times, then fired two warning shots into the ground before firing a shot that hit the handcuffed man in the shoulder.

The wounded man continued to run and was apprehended a few minutes later hiding behind a house on Third street.

Gipson said Wainingham was cleared of misconduct during a township police board of review hearing held late Thursday morning. The procedure is standard in any shooting involving a police officer, Gipson said.

Nelson was originally arrested on the weapons charge Wednesday night when patrons at the White House Inn, M-51, north of Niles, told police a man threatened to shoot himself with a pistol he was carrying. During the arraignment Thursday, Nelson demanded examination and bond was set at $5,000.

Niles Bank Declares Dividend

NILES — A regular quarterly dividend of 20 cents per share of common stock was declared by the board of directors of First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan at its May meeting. Payment will be made on July 1 to stockholders of record as of June 2.

In other action by the board, David Lawrence of Niles was promoted to vice president — finance and control; and John Clark was named auditor. Lawrence formerly was the bank's auditor and Clark, his assistant.

Lawrence will be responsible for profit center reporting and functional auditing and cost procedures as well as supervision of control and accounting. Before joining First National in 1973, Lawrence was a Certified Public Accountant in the Niles office of the accounting firm of Coopers and Lybrand.

Clark, prior to joining the bank in 1973, was a senior accountant and supervisor with Associates Financial Services in South Bend.

Andrews U. Will Dedicate New Building

School To Be Named For Dr. Ruth Murdoch

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Andrews university elementary school here will be officially named The Ruth Murdoch elementary school at ceremonies Sunday, May 25, at 3 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

At the naming ceremony, AU

President Richard Hammill give a dedicatory address for an official dedication of the building housing both the elementary school and junior academy.

The senior is being named after Dr. Ruth Murdoch, AU professor of education, who has taught at Andrews since 1958. She is regarded as one of the top authorities on developmental psychology and character development in the Seventh-day Adventist church, the university said.

Dr. Richard Orrison, director of the University school, said that Dr. Murdoch was chosen for the honor for her "contribution to Adventist education around the world, her love for children, and her teaching in character development."

A portrait of Dr. Murdoch will be unveiled during the ceremony, and she will receive a scrap book of notes and pictures from friends and former students of the past half century.

She began here teaching career, at Adelphi academy, Michigan in 1924 and has taught at every level, from grade school to graduate school.

Character development lies at the heart of her interest for children. A class she teaches on the subject has been among the most popular courses on campus. Alumni have frequently given the class top marks on questionnaires.

She earned her doctorate in 1960 from American university, Washington, D.C. The dissertation was on the daily schedule of elementary schools. She has since done one year of post-doctoral study in clinical psychology.

"We recognize her as one of the finest personal counselors in our denomination or anywhere," said Pioneer Memorial church pastor John Kruncke, "and have recommended many individuals to seek her counsel in the areas of marriage problems, child or teenage problems or personal problems of any age."

Coloma Festival Seeks Aid

COLOMA — For the first time, Coloma Gladiolus festival committee is requesting financial support for the festival from area businessmen.

Mike Dilts, festival president, announced that 100 letters have been mailed to Coloma area business firms and manufacturers requesting the financial support.

According to Dilts, the move was ordered because of continuing costs of putting on the festival were exceeding the festival's income, comprised of $600 each from the city and township of Coloma, plus profits from the Miss Coloma contest.

"In order to increase the promotion of the festival and to attract special features to enlarge the three-day festival, we are seeking assistance both financial and in manpower, materials and ideas from area businessmen and manufacturers," Dilts said.

The festival was first started in 1967. It will be held Aug. 1-3 in Coloma.

'Permit To Plow' Regulation Considered

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Farmers in Southwestern Michigan would need federal permits to plow or tile in wetlands or to clean drainage ditches under one of four alternative regulations under consideration by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The Corps of Engineers has been ordered by a U.S. District court to expand its control over the disposal of dredged or fill material in U.S. waters. So it drafted four alternative regulations, one of which will be adopted by June 16, according to William Hedeman, assistant general counsel to the Corps in Washington, D.C.

Alternative 1, which would give the Corps its broadest power, has drawn "very negative" comments from farm spokesmen, Hedeman said. A permit would be required for the farmer who wanted to enlarge his stock pond, deepen an irrigation ditch or plow fields that are wet enough to support aquatic vegetation.

Hedeman indicated that in a large measure these proposed regulations aim at further protecting aquatic vegetation, which is viewed as a part of the "farm's eco-system." Under alternative 1, a farmer would need a permit to plow a field which supported aquatic vegetation.

Corps spokesmen said that farmers in this area probably wouldn't need a permit to plow a once-flooded field.

Particularly incensed, Hedeman says, are rice and soybean growers in Southern states who sometimes intentionally cover their fields with water.

These growers appear to feel that the government is more concerned with the aquatic vegetation that grows in such fields than it is about the crops which are planted.

Before this year, the Corps was charged with controlling the disposal of dredged and fill material in "navigable waters" of the United States. The Natural Resources Defense Council and the National Wildlife Federation took the Corps, and other agencies, to court.

These environmentalists claimed that the federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 gave the Corps the authority to control the disposal of dredged and fill materials in "the waters of the United States."

Plaintiffs won their case and this March the U.S. District court for the District of Columbia ordered the Corps to expand its jurisdiction to include all "waters of the United States."

This ruling led the Corps to issue the four alternative definitions of exactly what they will and won't control.

From the farmer's viewpoint alternatives 2, 3 and 4 are less bad than 1, which says waters of the United States encompass "virtually every coastal and inland artificial or natural body of water" in the country, a Corps press release states.

Alternative 2 gives jurisdiction over navigable waters of the United States and their primary tributaries up to their headwaters. It also covers the country's coastline.

Alternative 3 uses the definition in alternative 1, but adds that federal permits would be issued only after the state screens an application. The state's approval would be given "heavy weight," the Corps said.

Alternative 4 uses the more limited definition of "navigable waters and their headwaters" which is presented in alternative 2, and incorporates the state screening provisions of alternative 3.

But the Corps cautions that regardless which alternative is chosen, the Environmental Protection Agency can overrule any Corps decision on whether to issue a permit.

And: "Some of the alternative proposals would require states to establish new procedures for evaluating the impact of placing dredged or fill material in waters of the United States and in effect to develop a state permit program of their own."

And: "Under the broad interpretation (alternative 1) millions of people may be presently violating the law."

Locke Mouton, deputy chief of public affairs for the Corps, explained that plowing has been defined, through court decisions, as an act of "excavation." This explains how the Corps gained jurisdiction over a farmer who is plowing on wetlands: in the Corps opinion he is dredging and needs a permit to do that.

To comment on the alternatives, interested parties can write: Office of the Chief of Engineers, Department of the Army, ATTN: DAEN-CWO-N, Washington, D.C., 20314. Letters received before June 7 will be considered before publication of the final regulations.

Teen Drowns At South Haven

SOUTH HAVEN — A Portage teenager drowned yesterday afternoon while attempting to swim chilly Lake Michigan waters off of South Haven's municipal beach.

Kenneth Hixon, 15, was dead on arrival at South Haven Community hospital, according to city police.

Police said Hixon and two friends were reportedly trying to swim from the south pier of the Black River channel entering Lake Michigan to the north pier when Hixon apparently developed leg cramps.

The friends, Michael Britton and Brian Haggman, both 15, of Portage, were unsuccessful in attempts to save Hixon.

Coast Guard officials at South Haven said the water temperature in the channel was approximately 50 degrees. The city beaches are not scheduled to be patrolled by lifeguards until Monday, May 26, Memorial Day.

The youth's body was recovered approximately 10 minutes after the mishap by Bruce Steiner, 25, of South Haven, who witnessed the drowning. The accident occurred shortly before 1 p.m. The drowning was the first in Van Buren county this year.

Coloma Club Donates To Hospital

WATERVLIET — The Town & Country club of Coloma has donated $300 to Watervliet Community hospital toward purchase of equipment for improved patient care, according to Howard J. Parker, hospital administrator. Parker said the donation was made possible through proceeds received by the club's annual home tour of area residences, also has announced plans to donate Parker said the club $150 to the Coloma emergency ambulance service and an undetermined amount to send two crippled children to summer camp.

Grand Junction Man Gets Grant

GRAND JUNCTION — Kurt Pugh, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Pugh of Grand Junction, has been awarded a $8,000 academic tuition scholarship from the George F. Baker Foundation of New York city.

The scholarship is for two years of study at Wake Forest university's Babcock graduate school of management in Winston-Salem, N.C.

Pugh, a recent graduate of Hope college, Holland, with a bachelor's degree in business administration and economics graduated from Bloomingdale high school in 1971.

Pugh was selected for the scholarship by the firm on his academic ability in business administration.

Tigers' Boys Fifth In Conference Meet

Harbor Girls Finish Third

GRAND HAVEN — Coach Dick Braine's freshmen laden Benton Harbor track team finished fifth in the LMAC track and field meet held here Friday.

For the first time ever, the conference held a meet for girls in which the Tigers placed third. Mona Shores won the boys' meet with 55½ points — but has to share the league title with Traverse City which had a 5-0 dual record. Traverse was second yesterday with 50½ points. The Tigers had 29 points.

Traverse City girls were a perfect 5-0 during the dual season and also won yesterday with 71 points. Runnerup Muskegon-Catholic had 47 points, while the Tigers had 30. Benton Harbor had two first place efforts — one from both the boys and girls.

Carmella Hull won the shot put with an area best 37' 6" — one inch better than the previous standard held by Debbie Lundin of River Valley.

The Tiger quartet of Roy Pitts, Randy Price, Howard Hunter and freshman Maverick Burton won the 440 relay in 45.6 which is .1 second better than their fifth place honor roll clocking.

Hull was also second in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Teammate Alma Jones was second in the long jump and fourth in the 100. Gloria Frazier captured third in the shot, while Joyce Wood was third in the two-mile and Tammy Howard was fourth in the mile.

Alex Williams took seconds for the Tigers in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, while teammate Howard Hunter was fifth in both events.

Seeded last, freshman Ricky McDonald surprised by placing second in the 440. Doug Fisher was fifth in the mile for the Harbor.

Lone record was mile run in the two by Grand Haven's Al Hudson. His time was 9:37.7.

Bloomington And Decatur Taking SAC Race To Wire

The SAC baseball race is going right down to the last week of play to determine the 1975 champion.

Front running Bloomington downed Marcellus 5-3 Friday, while current runnerup Decatur took Martin 5-2.

The Cardinals are now 9-1 (Decatur is 8-2) and must still play Lawrence next week twice. Coach Dave Baker's Tigers are 7-2.

Also yesterday, Michigan Lutheran and Springfield dumped Bangor 7-2.

Tim Hoyt improved his league pitching record to an unblemished 5-0 as he fired a three-hitter against Marcellus. Hoyt struck out nine and walked two.

Pat Barnes swatted two of Bloomington's nine hits with a homer and double. Scott Harris had a double and single, Jeff Melvin a RBI double, Gene Allen a double and Tom Rigney a two-bagger.

Two wins by the Cardinals over Lawrence would wrap up the title. A split could mean a tie with Decatur.

Ralder Jim Overley tossed a career-high 14 strikeouts in the win over Martin and allowed just three hits. He walked three.

Decatur's Mark Gale socked three singles for one RBI. Kim Thomas had a two RBI double and Al McAdams two singles and a RBI. The winners had seven hits and turned their 15th double play of the campaign.

Coach Elmer Dobberstein's Titans won the first of the two five-inning games 13-4 with Steve Hasse notching the mound win.

Bob Guse had two singles for the winners, Brent Morris a triple and Ron Briney and Hasse doubles. Russ Sprang and Art Kortaway each had two hits for Lawton.

Briney got the win in the nightcap 11-2 as he allowed just three hits and two runs the first inning.

Bruce Morris had a triple and two singles, Fred Krieger three singles and Brent Morris a pair of singles for the 8-5 Titans.

Bangor had six hits to just three for Springfield, but the scoreboard didn't reflect it.

Leading Viking stickers were John Dentzman with three singles and Mark Lull going two-for-two. Losing pitcher Carl Johnson walked eight batters for Bangor won 5-6 in the league for fourth place.

Springfield is 16-2 overall and first in the KVA with a 9-1 record.

In Memphis Golf Classic Mahaffey Leads By Two

MEMPHIS (AP) — John Mahaffey studied the scoreboard, his baby face wrinkled into a frown. He looked at the list of the leaders: Gene Littler, Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf. Also Gary Player and Lee Trevino, who were well within striking distance.

"With guys like that up there, I'd like to get a 14 or 15-shot lead," he said, a mischievous grin wiping away the frown.

But he's happy, very happy indeed, with the two-stroke margin he established in Friday's second round of the $175,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic.

"I'm tickled to death," he said.

The way I've played the last two days, I'd just like to take that game into the U.S. Open.

"I've been driving it letter perfect."

He birdied two of his last three holes for a four-under-par 68 and a 36-hole total of 133, 11 under par for two trips over the

McGinnis Wants To Join Knicks

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana Pacer Coach Bobby Leonard says he has always advised George McGinnis to go where the grass is greenest and isn't surprised the star forward wants to leave the American Basketball Association.

McGinnis, who shared the ABA's most valuable player title and led the league in scoring this season, filed suit Friday in a New York federal court against the NBA.

"I was aware he was going to file the suit," Leonard said. "George wants his release from the Philadelphia 76ers so he can negotiate with the New York Knicks."

The 76ers, who own NBA rights to the 6-foot-8 superstar, have refused to deal those rights to New York.

McGinnis almost left the Pacers last summer when the Knicks and 76ers were mulling over a possible trade of his NBA rights. But he wound up signing a two-year contract with Indiana that included an option to buy his freedom for $35,000.

Leonard said Friday he expected McGinnis to continue efforts to leave the ABA. "I've watched this thing happen and the hassle over contracts and everything," he said.

Though Leonard admits the loss of McGinnis would hurt Indiana, he said: "I've often told George that whatever he feels is best for him, he should do."

"You're only a ballplayer for a short time," Leonard said. "It's strictly dollars and cents. George feels like there's a challenge over there in the NBA and that's what he's looking for."

Leonard said the suit spawned no grudges against McGinnis, who was not available for comment Friday. But Leonard added he wasn't particularly pleased with the timing—the day after Indiana lost to the Kentucky Colonels in the ABA championship playoffs.

"There is no ill feeling as far as George is concerned," Leonard said. "But I have a great deal of disrespect for an agent by the name of Irwin Weiner. I feel he has interfered with our ball club."

The coach said Weiner, who represents McGinnis and other athletes, said the agent's appearances at Pacer practices and in the players' dressing room had upset him.

"As long as I am in professional basketball, I will never again allow an agent in my dressing room or at my practices," Leonard said.

Weiner said the suit, which gets a hearing in New York Tuesday, was filed against the NBA and its 18 clubs to determine whether McGinnis can play for any team other than Philadelphia. The 76ers drafted the Indiana strongman in 1971 but he opted for the Pacers in the ABA instead.

Panther Gals Capture Title

WATERVLIET — The undefeated Watervliet girls' softball team has captured the Red Arrow conference championship with a perfect 7-0 league record.

Carolyn Hutchinson led the team with a .708 batting average while Roberta Salay and Val Landeck each hit .607 and Kathy Coburn batted .551. Salay also scored 18 runs and drove in 18 more in the seven conference games while Coburn scored 21 times and Hutchinson and Landeck each had 14 RBIs.

In eight games overall, coach Andy Saetre's team scored 145 runs while giving up only 36. Abby Woodruff and Kim Philippi each had 4-0 pitching records.

Congdon Hurls Lawrence Win

LAWRENCE — Dave Congdon hurled a four-hitter as Lawrence downed Gobles 3-1 here Thursday in a Southwestern Athletic Conference contest.

Lawrence scored in the first on a bases-loaded walk off loser Charlie Lynch and two in the fourth on a two-run double by Terry Elmore.

Matt Mills stroked two singles for Lawrence, which ended with five hits. Larry Gilbert had a RBI single in the fifth for the losers.

Lawrence is now 7-2 in SAC play and trails league-leader Bloomingdale (8-1). Gobles drops to 3-7.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Randy Strunk was on the mound for the Angels who edged the Indians 8-7.

Randy Gast socked a homer and single for the winners, while teammate Randy Robinson had two hits. Tod Nowler and Gary Cooper each had two hits for the Indians who outlived the winners nine to five.

The Angels got past the White Sox 9-8 with Randy Gast doing the chugging for the winners.

Randy Robinson launched a homer and a pair of singles for the Angels, while Randy Emery had a two bagger and two singles. Randy Gast had three of the Angels' 14 hits. Robinson and McRae had two hits each for the Sox.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Bruce Levin hit a homer and Andy Kniessel three doubles to power the Seals over the Colts 11-9. Johns slugged a triple and double and Cummings a double for the Colts.

The Mustangs hung on in the late innings to clip the Colts 10-4. Shawn Frazier hit a double and single good for four RBIs for the winners. True socked a homer and two singles for three RBIs for the Colts.

Michigan Playing Eastern In NCAA's Second Round

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Michigan and Eastern Michigan enter second-round play today with victories in the NCAA Midwest baseball tourney, while Clemson and Penn State battle to avoid being dropped from the double-elimination meet.

Eastern Michigan's Jeff Washington was the big gun Friday, knocking in four runs as the Hurons dropped Clemson 5-3.

Michigan topped Penn State and pitcher Mitch Lukevics 5-1.

"It was just one of those days when out kids came with their bats," said U-M Coach Moby Benedict.

The loss was the first of the year for Lukevics, who had won 11 times. Chuck Rogers got the win for Michigan, scattering eight hits and fanning seven.

Washington's RBIs came on a homer, a double and a suicide squeeze that worked to perfection.

Today's action has Penn State and Clemson meeting in the loser's bracket of the double elimination tourney at 10 a.m. Eastern and Michigan battle at 1 p.m.

"It looks like it could end up being an all-local tournament unless we get going," noted Clemson Coach Bill Wilhelm.

Michigan got three hits off Lukevics in the first, scoring two runs on a double by Bill Haskrig and a single by Randy Hackney.

The Wolverines scored twice in the sixth on a two-run single by Dan Damiani. The final tally came in the eighth on another Damiani single.

Penn State scored its lone run in the fifth when Sam Lammie doubled, moved to third on Rich Koegel's single and scored on a sacrifice fly.

"We couldn't put hits together when we needed them," said Penn's Assistant coach, Dick Smith.

In the second game, Washington stroked a Chuck Porter curve ball high over the left field wall to give the Hurons a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Jerry Keller, who doubled in the first, scored ahead of Washington.

EMU took a 3-0 lead in the third when Keller tripled and scored on Washington's double to right. Clemson rallied for two runs in the fourth on a two-run single by Kurt Seibert.

Eastern added another run in the fifth inning when Washington brought home Glenn Gulliver on the squeeze play.

Huron starter Bob Owchinko, who gave up only three hits, got into trouble in the eighth by yielding four walks, allowing the Tigers to score their final run.

Freshmen righthander Bob Welch came on in relief and whiffed Seibert to end the threat with the bases loaded. Owchinko struck out nine and walked 11 in picking up his 10th win in 11 decisions.

Porter's mark dropped to 8-4.

Lions' Kowalkowski Inks Long Contract

DETROIT (AP) — Bob Kowalkowski, a starting offensive guard of the Detroit Lions, has signed a multi-year contract, the National Football League team announced Friday.

Kowalkowski, 31, is a nine-year veteran of the Lions and has started every game for the past three years.

"It's the best contract I've ever had," he said. "It's fair and I like it because the money is based on each year's performance." Terms of the pact were not announced.

Kowalkowski has played 110 games in his career, earning 17th place on the Lions' longevity list.

He led all offensive players in minutes played in 1973 and 1974.

Kowalkowski was drafted from the University of Virginia in 1965 as a "future." In his rookie year, he started all games at left guard, switched to right guard in 1968, then had knee injuries in 1969 and 1970.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Girl Fights Off Male Attacker

A 14-year-old Benton Harbor girl told city police last night she successfully fought off a man who attacked her after she refused to get into his pickup truck.

The girl told police she was able to kick the man and run to police headquarters, after being forced to the ground near Highland avenue at Jefferson, about 10:30 p.m. Her blouse and shorts were torn, officers said.

Police received this account: The girl left a friend's house and cut through Hall park to Highland on the way home when a brown pickup pulled up. The driver, described as a white man, about 30 and wearing a green hat, told the girl to get into the cab. The girl kept walking, and the driver parked and gave chase. After the girl kicked her way free, the man drove off. The girl is black.

Benton Harbor Patrolman Nick Stama said a piece of concrete was hurled through an open window of his patrol car, as he drove past a crowd of youths moving along McAlister near East Britain avenue about 3 p.m. Friday. Stama reported the concrete struck his left leg, but no injuries resulted.

No arrest was made, and Stama reported he could not determine who threw the concrete.

Hattie Headspeth, 23, was treated and released from Mercy hospital after reportedly being struck on the back of the head by a chain wielded by a man at her residence, 667 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, about 11:05 p.m. Friday.

Police were told the incident followed a quarrel. No arrest was made, pending further investigation.

A scuffle with police officers last night led to the arrest of a man identified as Floyd Caldwell, 25, of 480 Ohio street, Benton Harbor. Caldwell was booked on a charge of resisting arrest after he allegedly raised his fists at Sgt. Sam Watson and then struggled as Watson and several officers tried to remove him from the 480 Ohio residence.

Police were called at 5:15 p.m. by Vernessa Green of the same residence, who reported a quarrel with a man, who allegedly was threatening her.

A Benton township man was arrested last night after state police from the Benton Harbor post stopped a car on Crystal avenue and confiscated a pistol. Booked on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon was Bobby J. Williams, 25, of 2451 Lawrence drive. Troopers said the car was stopped because the license plate was wired on.

Troopers Friday afternoon arrested Alfonzie Smith, 26, Saginaw, after finding suspected marijuana in an auto troopers stopped for speeding on I-94, Benton township. Smith was booked on a charge of violating the controlled substance act.

South SJ Rollover Hurts Four Women

Four women were injured shortly before noon Friday in a one-car rollover accident on Washington avenue just south of Hilltop road, St. Joseph township.

Township police said the auto, a 1975 Oldsmobile Starfire with only 436 miles on the odometer, was extensively damaged. Released after treatment at Memorial hospital were the driver, Donna Lynn Riley, 23, of 320 Hunter drive, Fairplain, and passengers Melissa Peek, 23, of 1086 Lavette street, Benton Harbor; Kathy Luttrell, 20, of 1898 West Shawnee road, Baroda; and Jo Smith, 26, of 2018 Royalton Heights road, St. Joseph.

Police said the auto reportedly began sliding on a rough, gravel-covered stretch of road and went out of control, rolling over once and coming to rest on the driver's side. The driver was reported traveling about 25 miles an hour. No tickets were issued.

Benton township police said Jesse Goodson, 34, of 2022 Union street, Fairplain, was treated at Memorial hospital and released, after being flipped off his bicycle on Union near Waverly drive, about 10:10 p.m. Friday.

Goodson told officers he feared to avoid an auto that passed close to the bicycle while both vehicles were northbound.

The theft of a 7½ horsepower outboard motor from a cabin cruiser owned by Robert Lausman, Bridgman, and docked at the East basin, was reported to St. Joseph police Friday. A 100 horsepower motor on the same boat was not taken.

Arthur Reed told Benton township police Friday that a five-band radio valued at $40 and a minibike of undetermined value were stolen from the garage at his residence, 1306 Highland avenue.

$300,000 Suit Filed Against I&amp;M

An electrician who claims he received electrical shock injuries while working at the Donald C. Cook nuclear plant near Bridgman filed a $300,000 lawsuit yesterday in Berrien circuit court.

Named defendants were Indiana and Michigan Power Co., I & M Electric Co., and its parent firms, American Electric Power Co. and American Electric Power Service Corp.

The plaintiffs, Howard and Carolyn Locke, of Fountain, Mich., claim he sustained shock injuries Aug. 20, 1974, while steering electric cable into a bank of compartments. The suit claims the cable pushed Locke's arm into an energized bus bar, resulting in electrical shock.

Locke had been working at the Cook plant while an employee of L.K. Comstock & Co., Inc., which was hired to work on electrical equipment previously energized by I & M.

The plaintiffs maintain I & M had an obligation to provide a safe place to work and provide safe equipment on which to work.

BH Fireman Blame Child For Blaze

Benton Harbor firemen said a child playing with matches apparently started a blaze Friday afternoon in an upstairs bedroom of a public housing project apartment.

Damage was confined to bedroom furniture at the residence of Mrs. Pauline Hill, 63, of 1007 Buss avenue, apartment 4. Firemen said Mrs. Hill was babysitting for a 5-year-old grandson. Several burned matches were found in the bedroom, firemen said. The blaze was reported by Mrs. Hill at 4:38 p.m.

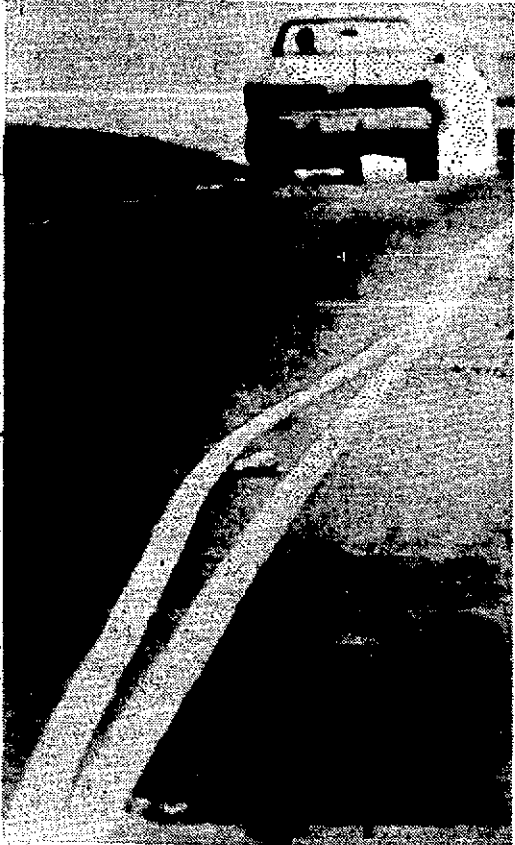

City firemen at 7:22 p.m. Friday, doused a blaze that damaged the engine compartment of an auto, owned by Hazel Dyson, 404 Summit street. The blaze began when the car was started at the Summit street residence and backfired, firemen were told.

Comedienne Dead At 77

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Moms Mabley, 77, the rubber-faced comedienne with the toothless grin and baggy clothing, died late Friday. Born Loretta Aiken in Brevard, S.C., she entered show business 60 years ago, entertaining first at church events and later on the black vaudeville circuit. Her first movie, "Amazing Grace," was released earlier this year.

Goosebumps

PEZIA, Italy (AP)—A navy sentry accused of quitting his guard post at an armory told the judge he walked off because he was scared of the dark. Salvatore Chlappe, 21, was sentenced to five months in the brig.

OFF COURSE: The fellow assigned to paint white traffic lines on I35E really confused some travelers heading north by turning the line into a topsy turvy twist. The painting was done on the highway in Carrollton, Tex., just north of Dallas. No reason for the twister was available but the highway artist might have wanted to miss the object between the straight and curving line. (AP Wirephoto)

TWO ASK HEARINGS

Berrien Court Sentences 17

Two persons demanded preliminary examinations in Berrien Fifth District court Friday and 17 other persons were sentenced.

Asking for examinations were:

Jeffery A. Mansfield, 24, Westville, Ind., charged with carrying a concealed pistol in a car May 23 in New Buffalo. He posted $1,500 bond and was released.

James Reed, 24, 248 Jefferson court, Benton Harbor, on a charge of attempted larceny of tires from an auto May 18 in Benton Harbor. He was jailed in lieu of $1,000 bail.

Among those sentenced yesterday was John H. Beilinger, 42, 7059 Red Arrow highway, Stevensville, who had pleaded nolo contendere to a charge of obtaining less than $100 under false pretenses.

Judge Declares Mistrial

Judge Chester J. Byrns declared a mistrial at 11 p.m. Thursday in the trial of Robert Lowell Woolbright when a Berrien circuit court jury could not agree on a verdict after more than nine hours of deliberation.

Woolbright, 26, of Baroda, went to trial on an armed robbery charge, alleging he assaulted Paul Whitecloud with a pistol Dec. 8, 1973, at Michigan Fruit Cannery in Coloma, and stole a typewriter and an adding machine.

Woolbright was remanded to the county jail to await a new trial. The county prosecutor's office indicated a new trial would be scheduled for mid or later summer.

Opposing counsel were Asst. Prosecutor Jeff Long and St. Joseph Atty. John Dewane.

Lions' New Home Is Taking Shape

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Although still mainly a mass of concrete and steel, it looks like the Detroit Lions' new home will be completed in time for the team's first exhibition game this year.

The new Pontiac Metropolitan Stadium, being constructed at a cost of about $55.7 million, should be ready in time for the Lions to take on the Kansas City Chiefs Aug. 23.

Final work won't be completed until October, however, when a fiberglass, air-inflated roof is installed over the stadium.

The roof will measure more than 400,000 square feet — nearly 10 acres — and weigh 200 tons.

Twenty-nine air blowers will be installed to help keep the roof inflated. When fully puffed, the distance from the top of the roof to the playing field will be 206 feet.

The new stadium will have 80,500 permanent seats and 6,000 temporary ones.

The facility also will feature a two-story restaurant, as well as 38 concession stands.

Built specifically for the Lion's football games, the stadium also will be put to other uses, ranging from a demolition derby to a Billy Graham evangelical crusade.

WORM INTO BAIT GAME Women Find New Freedom

NILES, Mich. (AP) — Women raising worms?

Indeed they are, and profitably, if two Western Michigan operations are representative. Just outside Niles, Genevieve Gibbs runs the Wiggly Worm Farm. She says sales are booming.

With the aid of her 81-year-old mother, Eunice Nedderman, and two neighbors, Mrs. Gibbs sells 3,000 to 10,000 red worms daily to fishermen. The business, begun last year when she sought extra income to remodel her home, already is 1 1/2 months ahead of its 1974 sales pace.

Mrs. Gibbs estimated her farm holds up to 15 million worms and that means plenty of work. The worms need to be fed about three times each week, she said. Ground corn is spread atop each of the four worm pits, then raked into the compost at least two inches deep before the pit is soaked with a hose.

Then, there is the digging needed to fill orders plus counting the worms before they are sold in boxes of 100. "It always requires help, that's for sure," Mrs. Gibbs said.

Meanwhile, two Portage women have figured out a way to reduce the work a bit. They sell their worms by the pound. "The first year, we counted 500,000 worms one by one," said Mary Appelhof.

She and Ida Wissman sell their hybrid red worms by mail from their Flowerfield Enterprises firm in St. Joseph County. Most of their worms are bought by organic gardeners. Ms. Appelhof decided to start the business after attending a worldwide conference on the environment in Stockholm, Sweden, a few years ago.

Ms. Wissman, a registered nurse, became her partner seeking "the freedom of being one's own boss." But she admitted doing so with a "yuech."

THE SIDE MAIN ENTRANCE of Plan HA883G is unique and provides privacy. Shutters enhance the front. The gallery is spacious and features a large guest closet. The first thing that catches your eye is the open stairway. One side of the house has the living room and dining room and they can be closed off to themselves by a sliding door, conducive to formal entertaining. Openness is the keynote between the kitchen, breakfast nook and family room. Upstairs are four bedrooms, each with cross-ventilation. Carl Kaiser designed the house with 1,303 square feet on the first floor and 1,115 on the second. Anyone wishing to learn the cost of the blueprint can write to him at 25600 Telegraph road, Southfield, Mich. 48075, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Q — I have just had a small house built on my own lot in a remote area. Under the terms of the deal, a certain amount of work was left to me. One of the things I have to do is to enclose the unheated crawl space under the house. I know there should be some kind of opening to permit air to move in and out. How much?

A — There should be at least two vents opposite each other, but this is the absolute minimum. It's better to put in four vents, one on each of the four sides. If you want to do a really good job, put a moisture seal on the ground. This can be polyethylene sheeting (4 mil or thicker) or asphalt roll roofing (55-pound type).

Q — I am having insulating wool blown into one side of our house. The dealer suggests that, in the meanwhile, I repaint the inside wall. It doesn't really need it. Should I follow his advice?

A — Didn't he explain that the purpose of the paint is to act as an extra vapor barrier so

New Building For Clark Biggest Project In Benton

An $85,000 permit to construct a paint storage and torque building for Clark Equipment headed the list of Benton township building permits issued this week by Chester Shuck, chief of buildings and inspection.

The permit was issued to Holland Construction Co., St. Joseph, to construct the building for Clark Equipment at 2303 Pipestone road. Those also issued permits include:

— Willie Juengling, 3492 Duncan, to construct a new single family house for himself at that address, $13,000.

— Coloma Construction Co., Coloma, to install a new swimming pool at 2603 Colfax avenue for Jay Clark.

— Richard Brogan, 1574 Roberts, to make general repairs to a dwelling at 143 Burton, owned by Ernest Givens, $17,500.

— Harvey Shull, 2854 Eaman road, to erect a storage shed and utility room at 2288 Lawrence drive, which he owns, $1,000.

— Martha Tucker, 1643 Columbus, to install a new roof on house and garage for herself at that address, $800.

— Ledford Austin, St. Joseph, to build a utility room on the back of his dwelling at 2150 Holly, $800.

Residential Remodeling Gets Underway In BH

The Benton Harbor building inspection department during the past week issued six permits for residential remodeling and repair projects totaling an estimated $2,500.

Permits were issued to Charles Jenkins for paneling in a single-family house he owns at 1176 Broadway, $900; Rudy Finkelout, for paneling in a single-family house he owns at 844 Warwick, $500; Willie Hall, for interior remodeling and repairs to a front porch at his home, 629 Baird, $500.

Kelly Carter, for partial reroofing of a single-family house he owns at 510 East Empire avenue, $200; and Owen Moore, to remodel a porch at a six-family apartment house he owns at 140 Bellview, $100; and to repair a front porch of a four-family apartment house he owns at 418 Lincoln avenue, $100.

Home Yard Fixin'

By JAMES E. NEIBAUEER

The larvae of a beetle called the bronze birch borer is responsible for the tops of birch trees dying out. Frequently the entire tree dies. The larvae of this insect tunnel under the bark in all directions, eventually girdling the branch or main trunk. The adult beetle emerges during early June by chewing semi-circular holes through the bark. A short time later, emergence eggs are laid. When the eggs hatch the young larvae immediately penetrate the bark and continue the destruction.

What to do? The first step is to keep the tree watered and fertilized so that it is healthy and growing well. Vigorous trees are not as attractive to borers and may overcome an attack.

If trees are heavily infested, prune out all dead limbs before June. I know usually this involves cutting the top out, destroying the appearance of the tree. A spray of lindane or methoxychlor to the trunk in the first week of June followed by a second spray in two weeks will help prevent infestation.

Scale insects are a sap-sucking insect with a special covering over their body to make them almost immune from pesticides except for a short time after eggs hatch and the new "crawler" is moving about to select its feeding spot. This crawler stage is one of the two vulnerable times when insecticides are effective. Euonymus and Juniper scales are about due; spray with sevin or malathion at two teaspoons per gallon of water.

There will be a garden meeting at the Sodus Horticultural Experiment station on River road, Sodus township, across from River school on Saturday, May 31 beginning at 9:30 a.m. Agent Neibaueer will discuss varieties, planting and pesticide use.

New Home For Famed Chapel?

LONDON (AP) — The famous London chapel of Methodist pioneer John Wesley could be shipped to the United States if British Methodists cannot restore it, suggests the Rev. A. Stanley Jones of Doncaster, Yorkshire.

Despite an appeal to Americans to contribute to the cost of renovating the 18th-century building in City Road, London, Methodists are still uncertain the job can be done. In a letter to the Methodist Recorder weekly, Mr. Jones said that the money raised in the U.S. might be used to transport the building to America so that it can be reconstructed at a suitable center there, as was done with London Bridge.

However, another Methodist minister, the Rev. Courtney Jones, wrote that the chapel "is a part of our English heritage and should be preserved as such."

Discounts Flood 'Street'

By JOSE FITZGERALD
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Fee competition is beginning to sweep Wall Street, three weeks after the Securities and Exchange Commission ended fixed commissions by brokerage houses on stock transactions.

Traders report discounts running as high as 50 per cent on some trades.

The industry is in a turmoil, brokers are unwilling to talk for the record, and trade publications are calling the events an "all-out war."

"We didn't make any forecasts of what would happen after May 1, but the breadth and depth of the discounting is more than I expected," SEC chairman Ray Garrett Jr. said recently.

"Many of the institutions have been somewhat stunned by it, as have the brokers," he added.

"We want to see where it settles down and whether it's contrary to the public interest."

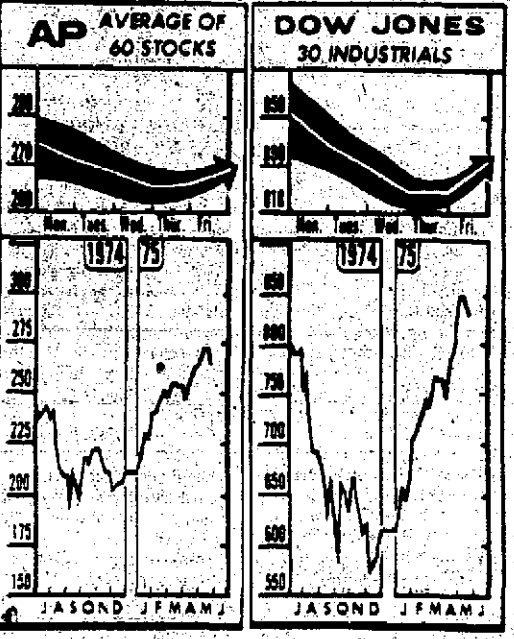

For almost 200 years, much of the industry was protected from competition by exchange regulations, sanctioned by the government, which permitted the fixing of rates. The Securities and Exchange Commission ended the fixed commission rates on stock transactions, effective May 1.

Institutional traders are now obtaining the greatest discounts. Commission charges for individuals have remained nearly the same, or in some cases gone up.

The discounts "depend on the degree of difficulty of the trade," says Joe DiMartino, head trader for Dreyfus Corp., the mutual fund.

"You might get 50 per cent off on $5,000 Telephone (AT&T) stock, but only 15 per cent to 20 per cent off from the old schedule for $5,000 Xerox."

Some bank trust departments

MARKET SEE-SAWS: The stock market fell early this week, only to end the week with an upswing. The Dow Jones average closed at 831.90 Friday, down 18.23 from the week prior. The Associated Press average fell by 5.1 over the same period to close at 269.1. Analysts said profit-taking and a midweek announcement of higher consumer prices combined in pushing prices down. The upswing was the result of investors moving in to buy at the depressed prices, they added. (AP Wirephoto Chart) have turned to small firms like Ernst & Co. for pure execution of orders ranging from 500 to 1,500 shares. They say they pay only 15 cents a share, compared with as much as 80 cents a share on high-priced stock before May.

Edgar Kann, Ernst & Co. partner, says his firm has a 300-60-day experimental program in which it is offering discounts 40 to 50 per cent off pre-May 1 levels. The firm only offers execution.

Brokers wonder whether the so-called "research" boutiques which offer stock analysis, but only limited trading abilities, will be able to survive the new crunch on Wall Street.

The Chamber Stands Ready To Help Small Businessmen

President Gerald Ford has proclaimed May 25-31 as Small Business Week, and the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce urges small business people to make use of available services.

Weldon Burden, director of small business assistance program for the chamber, said there are many problems in business or managing a business.

"But these problems are not so difficult and finding solutions is easier than you think," Burden said. "We will help you find where to get private and governmental assistance."

Business people in north Berrien county may call the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce in Benton Harbor. Residents in south Berrien may call the South Berrien Chamber of Commerce.

mercy for an appointment with Burden, as he spends the first and third Wednesdays of each month there.

The President's proclamation states that more than 8 million businesses in the U.S. today are considered "small" but they account for more than half the gross business product and more than half the business labor force.

Controlling Interest Purchased

DETROIT (AP) — Armada Corp. has purchased a controlling interest in Meridian Industries, the firm said Friday.

Armada bought the Meridian stock from two of its own officers. Armada, formerly Associated Brewing also owns Hoskins Manufacturing Co., Brookfield Wire Co. and Wayne Soap Co. Meridian makes auto exhaust pipes.

The officers who sold the stock, for $850,000, were Jerry Luptak and Leonard Friedman.

Armada also said it expects second-quarter earnings to fall to $400,000 or 25 cents a share, from $1.5 million or 95 cents a share in the same period last year.

HASS CROOKED BROOK OUTLET DRAIN

Notice of Letting of Drain Contract and Review of Apportionments.

Notice is hereby Given, That I, Harry H. Nye, County Drain Commissioner of the County of Berrien, State of Michigan, will, on the 10th day of June A.D. 1975, at the

Drain Commissioner's Office, Courthouse Room 101

St. Joseph, Michigan 49085

in the City of St. Joseph, in said County of Berrien at 11:00 A.M. o'clock in the forenoon of that day receive sealed bids until 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, when bids will be opened and publicly announced for the construction of a certain Drain known and designated as "Hass Crooked Brook Outlet Drain," located and established in the Townships of Pipestone & Bainbridge in said County.

Said drain is divided into one Section as follows:

Lower bottom of existing ditch 2 feet on lower end to 5 feet on upper end, with an average width of bottom of 6 feet with banks sloped 1 1/2 feet horizontal to 1 foot ver## tical.

Approximately 3,200 feet of drain. Install 2 corrugated metal culvert tubes 72" diameter x 20 feet long, also build an 8" headwall on the upper end of each tube and furnish material for building headwalls.

In the construction of said Drain the following quantities and character of tile or pipe will be required and contracts let for same:

1/4 - 12 gauge C.M.P. - 72 inches diameter x 20 feet long

Said job will be let by one section. The section at the outlet of said Drain will be let first, and the remaining sections in their order up stream, in accordance with the diagram now on file with the other papers pertaining to said Drain, in the office of the County Drain Commissioner of the County of Berrien to which reference may be had by all parties interested, and bids will be made and received accordingly.

Contracts will be made with the lowest responsible bidder giving adequate security for the performance of the work, in the sum then and there to be fixed by me, reserving to myself the right to reject any and all bids, and to adjourn such letting to such time and place as I shall publicly announce.

The date for the completion of such contract, and the terms of payment therefor, shall and will be announced at the time and place of letting. Any person desiring to bid on the above mentioned work will be required to deposit with the Drainage Board a certified check or cash to the amount of —One hundred dollars and no/cents—

Dollars as a guarantee that he will enter into contract and furnish the required bond as prescribed by law. The checks of all unsuccessful bidders will be returned after contracts are awarded. The payments for the above mentioned work will be made as follows:

Drain order due April 15, 1975

Notice is Further hereby Given, that on Tuesday the 8th day of July, 1975 at Drain Commissioner's Office in the City of St. Joseph, County of Berrien, or at such other time and place thereafter, to which I, the County Drain Commissioner aforesaid, may adjourn the same, the apportionment for benefits and the lands comprised within the "Hass Crooked Brook Outlet Drain Special Assessment District," and the apportionments thereof will be subject to review for one day, from nine o'clock in the forenoon until five o'clock in the afternoon. AN ORDINANCE MAKING PROVISION FOR AND APPROPRIATING FUNDS TO DEFRAY THE EXPENSES AND LIABILITIES OF THE CITY OF ST. JOSEPH, MICHIGAN FOR THE FISCAL YEAR BEGINNING JULY 1, 1975, AND ENDING JUNE 30, 1976, AND FOR PAYMENTS ON BONDED INDEBTEDNESS, SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS AND OTHER OBLIGATIONS OF SAID CITY, AND DIRECTING THE LEVY OF A TAX SUFFICIENT THEREFOR

THE CITY OF ST. JOSEPH ORDAINS:

ARTICLE I
GENERAL FUND LEVIES
GENERAL DECLARATION OF APPROPRIATION AND LEVY:

Sec. 1. The Commission of the City of St. Joseph having heretofore considered the budget submitted by the City Manager is hereby determined and ordered that there shall be raised by general taxation upon all the taxable property in the City for the purpose of defraying the general operating expense of said City, the sum of $1,221,771.75, same being a tax rate of 12.50 mills upon the equalized valuation of all taxable property in the City of St. Joseph, as determined and certified by the Board of Review of said City.

Sec. 2. When and as said taxes are collected and when and as the various estimated receipts are received from sources other than general taxation, all as contemplated and provided by the Annual Budget heretofore adopted by the City Commission for the fiscal year July 1, 1975, to June 30, 1976, said taxes and receipts shall be distributed and credited pro rata to the several specific funds as created, fixed, and enumerated in said Budget.

ARTICLE III
ADDITIONAL AND SPECIAL FUND LEVIES

Specialty Authorized by Charter

Sec. 1. In addition to the several sums heretofore appropriated, it is hereby determined and ordered that there shall be raised by general taxation upon all the taxable property in the said City the further sum of $35,038.26, same being a tax rate of 3.60 mills upon the equalized valuation of all taxable property in the City of St. Joseph as determined and certified by the Board of Review of said City, for the several specific funds and purposes next hereinafter set forth, to be credited in the specific funds designated in the following amounts respectively:

(a) Library Fund: A special tax authorized by Sec. 14, Chap. IX, City Charter, for general Library purposes, $78,887.30.

(b) Garbage and Rubbish Fund: To meet general expenses of the City in handling garbage and rubbish, $187,243.48.

(c) Band Fund: Special tax authorized by Section 15 (b) of the Charter and approved by a vote of the people April 4, 1938, for the maintenance of a band for musical purposes for the benefit of the public, $29,586.52.

(d) Street Impr.: A special tax authorized by Sec. 15 (c) Chap. IX, to defray the cost of Street Improvements, $49,310.87.

ARTICLE III
INTEREST AND SINKING FUND

Sec. 1. In addition to the several sums heretofore appropriated, it is hereby determined and ordered that there shall be raised by taxation upon all taxable property in said City the still further sum of $30,173.04, same being a tax rate of .60 mills upon the equalized valuation of all taxable property in the City of St. Joseph as determined and certified by the Board of Review of said City, for the purpose of paying bonded indebtedness and interest thereon.

ARTICLE IV
SPECIAL FUNDS TO BE RAISED BY RATES AND FEES

(1) Water Fund: For maintenance, operation, extension and improvement of public water system, mains and appurtenances, to be raised by water rates, $420,000.00.

(2) General Sewer Fund: To be, further, appropriated for maintenance and extension of sewer system and raised by annual service charge of $2.00 per lot as authorized by Ord. 33, 10, 66, 704.00.

ARTICLE V
SPECIAL ASSESSMENT LEVIES

Sec. 1. General Declaration: This Commission having heretofore on various occasions considered and determined that the cost of certain public improvements should be paid in part by special assessment upon special assessment districts heretofore determined; and having confirmed and approved the respective special assessment rolls thereto, IT IS ORDERED AND DETERMINED that there shall be levied by special assessment according to either frontage or benefits, as having been heretofore specifically determined with respect to each of said special assessment districts; and upon the special assessment districts according to (1) said methods; and (2) the composition and limit of said special assessment districts and rolls as heretofore determined.

ARTICLE VI
Sec. 1. In order to carry out the adopted system and plan of having the accounts and records of the City as they were commenced with the fiscal year 1930, balanced and closed annually, and in order that the appropriation for each succeeding year may be set up and carried and stand by itself as contemplated by said accounting system without the necessity of carrying over from year to year balances which may remain on hand in the various divisions or separate funds of the general fund as appropriated, the Director of Finance and Auditor are authorized to transfer any and all unissued and unexpended balance remaining on hand in any of the various divisions of said general fund at the close of the fiscal year on July 30, 1975, and again on June 30, 1976, first, to the credit of any division of said general fund which may show an over-draft and, second, any balance then remaining to be transferred and credited to the Contingent Fund; and said Director of Finance and Auditor are further authorized to transfer to the general street department fund any surplus in the amount raised by special assessments not exceeding 8% of said special assessment remaining on hand after fully paying for the special improvement covered by said assessment fund and/or moneys borrowed on account of the construction thereof, in accordance with Sec. 26, Art. XII of the City Charter.

ARTICLE VII
Sec. 1. The City Assessor is hereby ordered and directed to cause the several sums so ordered to be raised by general taxation to be levied and spread upon and against all taxable property in said City and the same shall be due and payable July 1, 1975. He shall cause the several sums ordered, and directed to be levied and spread, as special assessments to be levied and spread at such times as are set forth in the various confirming resolutions. All special assessments shall be due and payable September 30, 1975, and if not sooner paid, shall be collected with the winter, December 1, taxes.

Sec. 2. This Ordinance is to take effect and be in full force ten days from the date of its passage.

PASSED AND APPROVED this 20th day of May, A.D. 1975.

ORDINANCE
AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE DOWNTOWN-RIVERVIEW URBAN RENEWAL PROJECT (MICH. R-100) ADOPTED MONDAY, MAY 19, 1975

WHEREAS, under the provisions of Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended; the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development is authorized to provide financial assistance for undertaking and carrying out urban renewal projects; and

WHEREAS, it is provided in such Act that contracts for financial aid thereunder shall require that the Urban Renewal Plan for the respective project area be approved by the governing body of the locality in which the project is situated and that such approval include findings by the governing body that:

(1) the financial aid to be provided in the contract is necessary to enable the project to be undertaken in accordance with the Urban Renewal Plan; (2) the Urban Renewal Plan will afford maximum opportunity, consistent with the sound needs of the locality, as a whole, for the rehabilitation or redevelopment of the urban renewal area by private enterprise; (3) the Urban Renewal Plan conforms to a general plan for the development of the locality as a whole; and (4) the Urban Renewal Plan gives due consideration to the provision of adequate park and recreational areas and facilities, as may be desirable for neighborhood improvement, with special consideration for the health, safety, and welfare of children residing in the general vicinity of the site covered by the Plan; and

WHEREAS, a general plan has been prepared and is recognized and used as a guide for the general development of the Locality as a whole; and

WHEREAS, the Benton Harbor City Planning Commission, which is the duly designated and acting official planning body for the Locality, has submitted to the Governing Body its report and recommendations respecting the Amended Urban Renewal Plan for the Project area and has certified that the Amended Urban Renewal Plan conforms to the general plan for the Locality as a whole and that the governing Body has duly considered the report, recommendations, and certification of the planning body; and

WHEREAS, the Amended Urban Renewal Plan for the Project area prescribes certain land uses for the Project area and will require, among other things, changes in zoning the vacant and removal of streets, alleys, and other public ways, and establishment of new street patterns, the location and relocation of sewer and water mains and other public facilities, and other public utilities;

WHEREAS, there have also been presented to the Governing body information and data respecting the relocation program which has been prepared by the Local Public Agency as a result of studies, surveys, and inspections; and

WHEREAS, the members of the Governing Body have general knowledge of the conditions prevailing in the Project area and of the availability of proper housing in the Locality for the relocation of families that may be displaced from the Project area and, in the light of such knowledge of local housing conditions, have carefully considered and reviewed such proposals for relocation; and

WHEREAS, it is necessary that the Governing Body take appropriate official action respecting the relocation program and the Amended Urban Renewal assistance between the Local Public Agency and the United States of America, acting by and through the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development; and

WHEREAS, the Governing Body is cognizant of the conditions that are imposed in the undertaking and carrying out of urban renewal projects with Federal financial assistance under Title I, including those prohibiting discrimination because of race, color, creed, or national origin;

NOW THEREFORE, THE CITY OF BENTON HARBOR ORDAINS:

1. That it is hereby found and determined that the Project is a blighted area and qualified as an eligible Project area under Act 344 of P.A. of 1945, as amended, and Act 208 of P.A. of 1949, as amended.

2. That the Amended Urban Renewal Plan for the Project, having been duly reviewed and considered, is hereby approved, and the City Clerk be and is hereby directed to file said copy of the amended Urban Renewal Plan with the minutes of this meeting and a copy of the same is attached hereto, made a part hereof and marked Exhibit A.

3. That it is hereby found and determined that the objectives of the Amended Urban Renewal Plan cannot be achieved through more extensive rehabilitation of the Project area.

4. That it is hereby found and determined that the Amended Urban Renewal Plan for the Project area conforms to the general plan of the Locality.

5. That it is hereby found and determined that the financial aid provided and to be provided pursuant to the contract for Federal financial assistance pertaining to the Project is necessary to enable the Project to be undertaken in accordance with the Amended Urban Renewal Plan for the Project area.

6. That the redevelopment of the Urban Renewal Area for residential and nonresidential uses is necessary for the proper development of the community.

7. That it is hereby found and determined that the Amended Urban Renewal Plan for the Urban Renewal Area will afford maximum opportunity, consistent with the sound needs of the Locality as a whole, for the urban renewal of the area by private enterprise.

8. That it is hereby found and determined that the Amended Urban Renewal Plan for the Urban Renewal Area gives due consideration to the provision of adequate park and recreational areas and facilities, as may be desirable for neighborhood improvement, with special consideration for the health, safety, and welfare of children residing in the general vicinity of the site covered by the Plan.

9. That it is hereby found and determined, as a result of a competent independent analysis of the local supply of transient housing, that there exists in the area a need for additional units of such housing.

10. That it is hereby found and determined that the program for the proper relocation of families displaced in carrying out the Project in decent, safe, and sanitary dwellings in conformity with acceptable standards is feasible and can be reasonably and timely effected to permit the proper prosecution and completion of the Project; and that such dwellings or dwelling units available or to be made available to such displaced families, if any, are at least equal in number to the number of displaced families, are not generally less desirable in regard to public utilities and public and commercial facilities than the dwellings of the displaced families in the Project area, are available at rents or prices within the financial means of the displaced families, and are reasonably accessible to their places of employment.

11. That, in order to implement and facilitate the effectuation of the Amended Urban Renewal Plan hereby approved, it is found and determined that certain official action must be taken by this Body with reference, among other things, to changes in zoning, the vacating and removal of streets, alleys, and other public ways, and establishment of new street patterns, the location and relocation of sewer and water mains and other public facilities, and other public action, and, accordingly, this Body hereby (a) pledges its cooperation in helping to carry out the Amended Urban Renewal Plan; (b) requests the various officials, departments, boards, and agencies of the Locality having administrative responsibilities in the premises likewise to cooperate to such end and to exercise their respective functions and powers in a manner consistent with the Amended Urban Renewal Plan; and (c) stands ready to consider and take appropriate action upon proposals and measures designed to effectuate the Amended Urban Renewal Plan.

Adopted this 19th day of May, 1975.

RESOLUTION POSTPONING DEMOLITION OR REHABILITATION PROCEEDINGS

WHEREAS, on February 27, 1975, the City Manager made a determination that the house and premises known as 902 Lions Park Drive, St. Joseph, Michigan, is dangerous to life, limb or property and has deteriorated to the point where it has become a public nuisance and that said structure is beyond repair and should be torn down and completely removed pursuant to Section 44.06 of the Code of Ordinances of the City of St. Joseph, and

WHEREAS, by resolution adopted March 3, 1975, the City Commission acknowledged receipt of the determination of the City Manager, accepted the findings therein contained and set Monday, April 7, 1975, at 7:30 o'clock P.M. in the Commission Chambers in the City Hall as the date, time and place on which the owner might appear before the City Commission and be heard respecting the condition of said building or structure, and

WHEREAS, by resolution adopted April 7, 1975 the matter was further postponed until May 12, 1975, and

WHEREAS the building inspector has reported that the owner Peggy Jean Davis has obtained financial loan. The electrical work is completed, the plumbing and structural work are about to be begun and therefore has requested a postponement for another ninety (90) days, and

WHEREAS the City Commission is fully advised in the premises.

THEREFORE RESOLVED that the City Commission hereby postpones further proceedings on the demolition or rehabilitation of the said house and premises until August 8, 1975.

Roll call resulted as follows:

Yeas: Commissioners Gast, Gillespie, Hanley, Selement and Smith. Nays: None. Absent: None. Motion declared carried and resolution adopted.

ACCEPTANCE OF BUDGET JULY 1, 1975 TO JUNE 30, 1976

This being the time fixed by action of the City Commission pursuant to City Charter provision and published notice of public hearing on consideration of the City Budget, Mayor Smith announced the Commission ready to hear any suggestions or objections thereto.

No objections having been filed with the City Clerk or made orally, after due consideration, Mr. Gillespie, seconded by Mr. Selement, moved that the following resolution be adopted:

RESOLVED that the budget as submitted by the City Manager April 28, 1975, be accepted and approved as the estimated expenditures and receipts of the City of St. Joseph for the fiscal year July 1, 1975 to June 30, 1976, and that the City Attorney be directed to prepare the Annual Appropriation Ordinance in conformity therewith and submit same to this Commission.

Roll call resulted as follows: Yeas: Commissioners Gast, Gillespie, Hanley, Selement and Smith. Nays: None. Absent: None. Motion declared carried and resolution adopted.

An ordinance entitled "AN ORDINANCE MAKING PROVISION FOR AND APPROPRIATING FUNDS TO DEFRAY THE EXPENSES AND LIABILITIES OF THE CITY OF ST. JOSEPH, MICHIGAN, FOR THE FISCAL YEAR BEGINNING JULY 1, 1975, AND ENDING JUNE 30, 1976, AND FOR PAYMENTS ON BONDED INDEBTEDNESS, SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS AND OTHER OBLIGATIONS OF SAID CITY, AND DIRECTING THE LEVY OF A TAX SUFFICIENT THEREFOR" was introduced by Mr. Gillespie and given its first reading.

Commissioners Gillespie, seconded by Commissioner Selement, moved that further consideration of the ordinance be postponed until the next regular meeting of the Commission to be held on Tuesday, May 20, 1975.

Roll call resulted as follows: Yeas: Commissioners Gast, Gillespie, Hanley, Selement and Smith. Nays: None. Absent: None. Motion declared carried.

The Manager introduced WILLIAM GRIMES, representative for DIAL-A-RIDE, who with RON GRIFFIN, chairman of the Authority and WILBERT BROWN, Director of the program, made an interesting presentation of the performance and progress to date by the Dial-A-Ride authority.

The Manager offered a resolution whereby the City of St. Joseph would formally request the Federal Office of Management and Budget to formally designate Berrien County as a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) with all rights and privileges accorded to the designation. He stated that the Twin Cities Area Transportation Study Police Committee had requested this resolution in order to help the Twin City area obtain a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area designation. This designation will assist local units in obtaining funding from Federal Agencies.

After discussion Commissioner Gast, seconded by Commissioner Hanley moved the adoption of the following resolution:

WHEREAS the Twin Cities Area Transportation Study has directed a communication informing the Berrien County Board of Commissioners, as well as the appropriate Berrien County, State and Federal officials, about Berrien County's failure to receive a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) designation, and

WHEREAS the lack of the SMSA designation impacts upon the State, County and Twin Cities area with a significant loss of revenue, and

WHEREAS this SMSA designation is a vital federal funding criteria for numerous federal funding programs, and

WHEREAS Berrien County does not presently qualify for an SMSA designation according to current guidelines utilized by the Federal Office of Budget and Management; and

WHEREAS Berrien County is the tenth largest county in the State of Michigan containing a population of 163,875 people, according to the 1970 census, which is larger in population than four other recognized SMSA Counties within the State of Michigan: Jackson, Bay, Calhoun and Muskegon Counties, and

WHEREAS Berrien County contains an urban concentration of population commonly referred to as the Twin Cities Area with a population of 71,385 people which is as large or larger in population than the urbanized area contained in three of the four SMSA Counties referred to above; and

WHEREAS Berrien County also appears to meet the Census Bureau SMSA designation criteria with a 95.7% non-agricultural working force and a 46.4% of population living in urban areas containing a minimum population of 2,500 people and a population density of 280 people per square mile.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the City of St. Joseph, Michigan does hereby request the Federal Office of Management and Budget to formally designate Berrien County as a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) with all rights and privileges accorded to the designation.

GM Pins Hopes On First Minicar

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors will introduce America's first minicar into its 1976-model lineup as its latest weapon in the growing battle with imports to capture gasoline-conscious buyers.

GM Chairman Thomas A. Murphy confirmed Friday the car, smaller than the current Vega subcompact, would be in showrooms sometime in the next model year. But he declined to say how much it will cost, when it will go on sale or what it will be called.

Industry sources have said the car, unofficially known as the Chevette, will be 17 inches shorter and 400 pounds lighter than the Vega, GM's smallest U.S.-built car.

But the Chevette is expected to be roomier than the Vega and capable of getting about 40 miles per gallon in highway driving, a figure surpassed only by a recently-introduced Honda Civic minicar.

According to Environmental Protection Agency results released at the start of the model year last September, the Datsun B-210 got the best fuel consumption at 39 miles per gallon.

The new Chevrolet Monza Town Coupe gets the best of any domestic car at 34 m.p.g. on the highway.

Industry sources say the new GM car will go into production at GM's Wilmington, Del., assembly plant this summer and go on sale this fall.

Meanwhile, the four U.S. car companies reported car sales in mid-May made better than expected gains over early-month levels, but the selling tempo remained at a 14-year low for the period.

Sales of 180,423 were down 28 per cent from a strong year-ago period, but up 25 per cent over early-May levels. Normally mid-May results are up 19 per cent over the previous 10-day period.

The car companies also said that for the first time this year, they will operate all their plants next week with no workers on temporary layoff.

Ford Motor Co. said Friday it will recall 14,900 workers Tuesday at six plants where operations were suspended this week. All assembly plants at the other companies were open this week.

Despite the worker recalls, nearly 183,000 of 712,000 hourly auto workers will remain on indefinite layoff because most car plants are producing well below capacity due to sagging sales. But the total layoff figure is the lowest of the year and 120,000 below the peak of last January.

While domestic sales remain depressed, the predominantly small imports have staged dramatic sales gains and boosted their market share to a record 21 per cent through the first four months of 1974.

Concerned U.S. company officials attribute the sales muscle shown by imports to their substantial fuel-economy advantage over American models.

Domestic executives say consumer fears about another oil embargo, higher gasoline prices and fuel rationing have sent Americans rushing to foreign car showrooms.

As a result, the U.S. companies have made fuel economy improvements their No. 1 priority this year. That strategy is especially evident at GM, traditionally the king of the big car segment.

Highway Group Plans Meeting

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Highway Commission meets next month in Newberry to review transportation plans for the Upper Peninsula.

The meeting will be held June 11 at 10 a.m. in the Luca County Public Employees Credit Union building. Public officials and civic leaders have been invited to attend, and the general public also is welcome.

The commission will receive progress reports and plans for highway construction throughout the area, including reconstruction of U.S. 2 across the Upper Peninsula.

FOR SALLY STRUTHERS

What was your scariest experience?—M.O., Sacramento, Calif.

● One night after I left the studio, I was chased and nearly run off the road by two thugs. I drove like a maniac to the Beverly Hills Police Station, but realized, too late, that in swinging around I'd come in the wrong side and had ended up in a distant parking lot. So there I was, running around like a chicken with its head cut off, and the men in the car approaching. I bolted into the police station screaming, "Two men are after me! Help me!" The police went outside and looked, but of course by that time they were gone. But I had no assurance that they weren't parked around the corner, so I asked the police to escort me home. You know what they said? They said they could only take me as far as the city limits. And that's what they did. When we got to the city limits, they turned around and said over their loud-speaker, "Good luck, lady!" I couldn't believe it! Luckily I got home all right.

FOR LYNN REDGRAVE, star of "The Happy Hooker"

Why do you think so many show business marriages fail?—J.C., Utica, N.Y.

● Shouldn't we first establish that show business causes divorce? I think the divorce rate for people in show business is on a par with that of other people. However, I do agree that it is conducive to romance. And I think it's dangerous to get close to your costar from a professional point of view, because once the "affair" is over, the two of you can never work together comfortably again.

FOR GEORGE MEANY, president of the AFL-CIO

What are your favorite books?—Elmer A. Beck, Kenosha, Wis.

● Well, I don't read much fiction. The last novel I read that made much of an impression on me was "Tropic of Cancer." My favorite reading is history, biography, political memoirs and the like, especially on American themes. I enjoyed "Plain Speaking," the taped interviews with Harry Truman, and found Solzhenitsyn's "Gulag Archipelago" fascinating.

FOR CHARLTON HESTON, star of "Earthquake"

You're a mystery to the public. Is this from choice?—J. Pierre, Port Huron, Mich.

● I don't know why—or how. Over the years, I've given many interviews and am always ready to answer questions because I know actors cannot expect to have absolute privacy. However, when I'm not working or traveling, I'd much rather stay home, away from the spotlight, enjoying the "personal" side of my life with family and friends.

FOR PAUL "BEAR" BRYANT, University of Alabama football coach

Why did the police escort you off the field after Notre Dame upset Alabama on New Year's night? Did someone really threaten your life?—M. Ammons, Hart, Texas

● Often there is a crowd at the dressing-room entrance and it helps to have a police escort. Fans have stolen my hat, and sometimes men who have been drinking have cursed me and my team and coaches. My life hasn't been threatened, but with my bowl record, some people might like to!

FOR RALPH C. MARTIN, author of "The Woman He Loved"

Is it true that when Wallis Simpson was born, the doctor told her mother she was "fit for a king"?—Mrs. Lela Owens, Havelock, N.C.

● The full conversation, according to her cousin, Mrs. Elizabeth Biddle Gordon, went like this: "Doctor, is the baby all right? Has she all her fingers and all her toes?" "She's perfect," answered the doctor. "In fact, she's fit for a king."

FOR MICHAEL DOUGLAS

When are you going to marry Brenda Vaccaro?—L.S., Vancouver, Wash.

● When I'm good and ready, and when I feel there's a reason to do so. I believe in marriage, and the fact that my parents were divorced has no effect on my attitude. Right now we're happy, and one day we'll surprise everyone and become Mr. & Mrs.

FOR MARLO THOMAS

As a half-Italian, are you as great a cook as Italian women are supposed to be?—A.S., Fort Worth, Texas

● I can cook, but doubt I'm "great." I'd rather cook for large groups (that's the actress in me—I like a full house) because if I take the time and trouble to make a complicated dish, I want lots of people to see and taste what I did. I'm addicted to chocolate, so anyone who comes for dinner is sure to get pasta and chocolate—not slenderizing, but delicious.

FOR CONNIE STEVENS

How do you feel about being compared with Marilyn Monroe?—L.R., Green Bay, Wis.

● I think of myself as "the girl next door," and in my opinion Marilyn was the greatest sex queen who ever lived. But I'm flattered to be compared to Marilyn, because I admired her. As to our lives, there's no comparison at all.

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

Can you tell me something about the daughter of the late Jack Benny?—Anne Springer, Daytona Beach, Fla.

● Mary and Jack Benny adopted a daughter, Joan, whose first marriage at 19 in 1954 was to N.Y. stockbroker Seth Baker. She and Baker had the most lavish wedding Hollywood had seen in years—since Shirley Temple wed John Agar. It reportedly set her dad back $50,000. Two years and one son later, Joan was divorced and, hours later, married Bud Rudolph, a Hollywood haberdasher. This marriage produced a daughter, and another divorce. In 1963, Joan became the wife of film executive Robert Blumof. Joan said in 1962 she was rarely recognized in public, but she always enjoyed meeting all the famous folk her father knew, and she's still star-struck. She can't tell a joke and once said: "When Dad chuckles at one of my yarns, I'm happy for three days."

The Jerry and Rocky Show

Humor Is Alive and Well Again in the White House

They may not be the new Olsen and Johnson, but they're the funniest team in the White House in the memory of the Washington press corps. Not since Vice President Alben Barkley regaled Harry Truman with stories of how "you can't get there from here" has there been so much laughter around the White House.

Jerry and Rocky, the venerable President and Vice President, kid each other a lot and keep the humor rolling, even when the state of the Union and the economy tend to get them—and the popularity polls—upright.

The President, for example, quotes Rocky, and tells how the Vice President, whose family commands its own fleet of planes, complained at what he had come down to as Vice President—Air Force 2. Ford said, "When Rocky saw his plane, he said he had something of his own that went faster."

"I said, 'One of your jets?'"

"He said, 'No, my lawn mower.'"

Nixon kept his Vice President, Spiro Agnew, at arm's length and let Agnew be the clown, when there was any clowning or ridiculing to be done. LBJ also guarded his own position jealously and did not spend too much time fraternizing with the ebullient Hubert Humphrey, his Vice President, just as Kennedy, when he was President, seemed to ignore Vice President Lyndon, and leave his Number Two man to his own devices.

But all that has changed, and now we have a President who seems to delight in his Vice President's company and keeps him as close by as possible.

When he's out giving a speech, Rocky doesn't mind poking a little fun at himself. He likes to start out by saying:

"It's a real thrill for me to be here tonight representing the Republican party. This has never happened to me before." Then he pauses significantly and mutters, "Not that I didn't try."

A little later, he brings down the house by commenting, "So far, for 1976, the Democrats seem to be suffering an embarrassment of riches." [Pause] That's an expression I never quite understood until my confirmation hearings!

"Jerry and Rocky, the venerable President and Vice President, kid each other a lot and keep the humor rolling...."

"It's hard to find a room in Washington that isn't bugged. When I swear in witnesses, I ask them to give the whole truth, nothing but the truth and please speak directly into the flower vase."

—Vice President Nelson Rockefeller

By Frances Spatz Leighton

Especially for FAMILY WEEKLY

As for President Ford, he is no patsy and can give as good as he gets. Politicians well remember when he brought down Ronald Reagan with one wry comment: "I don't think Reagan dyes his hair—it's just prematurely orange."

Those who attend White House parties soon learn that President Ford is a master of the punch line and doesn't need his speechwriter (and sometime contributor to FAMILY WEEKLY), Bob Orben, to put words in his mouth. For example, when singer Vikki Carr, who is a Mexican-American, asked the President, "What is your favorite Mexican dish?" Ford shot back: "You."

Sports also brings out the best in presidential humor. And here Ford plays it humble. Or to quote him more specifically, "I'm very modest about my golf game. But then, I have a lot to be modest about."

He teed off at the Inverrary Classic in Florida, back in February, with a good drive, but ended two strokes over par on the first hole. "This is why," he said, "when I play golf, my Secret Service men go on combat pay."

Ford likes to kid Kissinger about his "diplomatic game of golf," explaining to his sportsmen friends, "Henry Kissinger is probably the greatest diplomat the world has ever known, and I'll tell you how I know this. The other day I was in a sand trap and there was a water hazard beyond that, and then another 60 feet to the first hole."

"I'll tell you what Henry did. He conceded the putt."

The needling President Ford enjoyed most was that of heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, who visited the President at the White House and told him with mock belligerence, "You made a big mistake letting me come, because now I'm going after your job!"

Ford fixed him with a steely eye, then grinned and said, "Stop by another day—there are some days I'd be happy to let you have it!"

Ford loves to downgrade the desirability of his office. As he told one group, "The greatness of America is that anyone can grow up to be president of something—an airline, an auto company, a utility or [pause] President of the United States." Then Ford looked around laconically and added, "That's just one of the chances you take."

The President doesn't even mind telling about the way he was introduced by an old football teammate, who said, "I played football with Jerry Ford for two years and it made a lasting impression on me. I was the quarterback and Jerry was the center, and I must say, it gave me an entirely different view of the President!"

The President assumes a mock-injured air as he tells about the year he was voted the team's most valuable player as a senior at Michigan in 1934. "That year we lost seven out of eight games," he says. "Yet they voted me their most valuable player. I couldn't decide whether to smile or sue."

But it's sports he most frequently turns to as a source of humor, as when he said, "There are many similarities between football and government. Sometimes, for example, a lot of talk goes on for hours or days without anyone really saying anything. In Washington, they call it a filibuster. In football, it's called Howard Cosell."

President Ford likes nothing better than making a speech. But sometimes he suffers because his listeners don't know if he's punning or just generally garbling the English language.

As a prime example, he arrived at the National Press Club for the swearing-in of the new club president, William Broom. Rising to administer the oath, Ford deadpanned, "This is a suspicious occasion."

Warning to his subject, Jerry Ford told Broom about the perils of being President. "First," he said, sounding very, sad, "they take away your swimming pool. And then they ask you to come clean." (This brought down the house with reporters, who know that Richard Nixon covered the White House swimming pool and made it into the press room.)

The President makes sure, whenever he can, that his audience knows that he personally has experienced hardship and economic depression. At the University Club of Washington recently, he reminisced about working his way through college: "I was the only athlete in Michigan history who ever had a football knee and dishpan hands at the same time."

He went on to comment that he got his first degree in 1935 in economics, and added that he was still getting a degree—"a third degree, at least from some people, and it's still in economics."

Around the White House, President Ford milks every situation for all the laughs he can get, admitting freely that "humor is my therapy."

When his wife Betty got all steamed up over her efforts to gain support for the passage of the Equal Rights Amendment and was picketed at the White House for her trouble, the President did not give her the "now, now, dear" treatment. Instead he needled: "As a great philosopher once said, nobody will ever win the battle of the sexes. There's too much fraternizing with the enemy."

As for his daughter, he is forever cautioning her to be economical in her purchases, saying, "Remember, I'm still a Ford—not a Cadillac or Lincoln." And he loves to put her on by telling friends the story of how he got his golden retriever.

"Let me tell you about Susan and how she got me my dog, Liberty," he begins, as Susan stands by, shaking her head helplessly.

"Well, actually, Susan thought she'd surprise me, and she called up a highly recommended kennel and said she wanted to order a golden retriever. But it wasn't that easy.

"The owner wanted to know whom the dog would be going to, but Susan said she couldn't tell him because it was a surprise. Well, the man explained he couldn't sell a dog unless he knew it was going to a good home and exactly what kind of home it was.

"Susan assured him it would be a good home and the couple were friendly and middle-aged and lived in a big white house with a fence around it.

"The kennel man said, 'Good. But do they own or rent?'"

"Susan mulled that over for a minute and she said, 'Well, you might call it public housing.'"

President Ford likes to turn the tables on members of the press any chance he gets, and not too long ago at a Washington Press Club party he kidded UPI reporter Helen Thomas: "I'm firmly convinced that if the good Lord had made the world today, He would have spent six days creating the heaven and earth and all the living creatures upon it, but on the seventh day, He would not have rested. He'd have been too busy justifying it to Helen Thomas."

Photoanalysis: Here's What a Psychologist Sees In These Pictures

Millions of people take billions of photographs each year—yet how often do we ever linger over a photo to analyze the wealth of information that may be stored in it? Photoanalysis is what I call analyzing photographs for psychological meaning. This method can be learned by anyone if he follows the guidelines outlined in my book ("Photoanalysis," by Robert U. Akeret, Pocket Books, $1.95). I've been using photographs in my work as a psychologist and psychoanalyst for over 20 years—I've been deeply impressed by how photos can correct distortions, pinpoint times of dramatic change and tap hidden resources.

AUTHOR & WIFE

What would you say about the relationship between these two people? Are they siblings, married, lovers, good friends? This photo was taken by a daughter after her parents' 22 years of marriage, and is a good example of intimate distance.

The photo records the happy resolution of a difficult period in my relationship with my wife. And the photo does make you wonder—do people tend to look more and more alike as they grow older together?

MARTHA MITCHELL

Sometimes a single photo will tell a complete story. There are times, however, when you need a series to comprehend what is happening. Carefully study these following four photographs of Martha Mitchell during an interview. There are countless themes that one could observe and discuss. I will limit my observations to a single theme—public body distance. I see the two women engaged in a "dance" that they are probably not even aware of consciously. Martha sits as close as she can to her biographer, Winzola McLendon, and she leans forward to make contact. Ms. McLendon, however, is not comfortable with the physical closeness—her "air space" has been invaded, and she recoils in her chair. Notice how in the first two photos, her head, body, right shoulder and right arm are all placed as far back as possible, away from Martha.

This third photo has dramatically caught the impact of a telephone call. I tend to think of Martha Mitchell with a telephone in hand, but notice how her body position has changed. She is now erect and her attention has shifted to the telephone conversation. Ms. McLendon has not yet adjusted herself to the change in physical distance between them.

Now the physical dance between them has come full cycle. Martha is absorbed in listening to the telephone conversation—she is even leaning away from her biographer, and this increased distance has allowed Ms. McLendon to shift into an upright position instead of leaning away from Martha. People like to keep certain distances between themselves and others—and the photos illustrate this fact.

PAT LOUD

This photograph of Pat Loud was taken from the footage of "An American Family," the public-television documentary series that focused on the lives of the Louds and their children. Examine her face closely. What do you see? What feelings are aroused in you? I see a sad, drawn, depressed face, reflecting that whatever is troubling her goes very deep. Her mouth is sealed—she appears to be suffering stoically, repressing her true feelings.

These three photos were taken many minutes after her divorce. She is with her older daughter. Study the three photos with particular attention to Pat Loud's facial expression. Do you see the change? Her depression has lifted—her eyes, lips and mouth all reflect warmth and inner tranquility. Life and vitality have returned to her face, which reflects these feelings genuinely—not simply in a plastic pose for a photographic sitting.

What do you notice about the relationship between Pat and her daughter Della? The Martha Mitchell photo series reflects a study in public distance, and I think the above three photos indicate a study in personal distance. They are physically close, but there is still a sense of independence. They are separate and yet together at the same time.

Do you see the difference in their emotional participation? The daughter maintains her steady, confronting look, while the mother expresses a range of feeling from thoughtful-reflective, to warmth, to control. Obviously, photographs cannot capture a person's entire personality or tell the whole story about a change in one's life, but I believe photos can tell some part of the story—and I believe these are evidence that Pat Loud's life is progressing in a happier direction.

These are all FAMILY WEEKLY pictures, except for the picture of the author and his wife.

when I planned to retire before fifty

this is the business that made it possible

a true story by John B. Haikey

Starting with borrowed money, in just eight years I gained financial security, sold out at a profit and retired.

"Not until I was forty did I make up my mind that I was going to retire before ten years had passed. I knew I couldn't do it on a salary, no matter how good. I knew I couldn't do it working for others. It was perfectly obvious to me that I had to start a business of my own. But that posed a problem. What kind of business? Most of my money was tied up. Temporarily I was broke. But, when I found the business I wanted I was able to start it for a small amount of borrowed money.

"To pyramid this investment into retirement in less than ten years seems like magic, but in my opinion any man in good health who has the same ambition and drive that motivated me, could achieve such a goal. Let me give you a little history.

"I finished high school at the age of 18 and got a job as a shipping clerk. My next job was butchering at a plant that processed boneless beef. Couldn't see much future there. Next, I got a job as a Greyhound Bus Driver. The money was good. The work was pleasant, but I couldn't see it as leading to retirement. Finally I took the plunge and went into business for myself.

"I managed to raise enough money with my savings to invest in a combination motel, restaurant, grocery, and service station. It didn't take long to get my eyes opened. In order to keep that business going my wife and I worked from dawn to dusk, 20 hours a day, seven days a week. Putting in all those hours didn't match my idea of independence and it gave me no time for my favorite sport—golf! Finally we both agreed that I should look for something else.

"I found it. Not right away. I investigated a lot of businesses offered as franchises. I felt that I wanted the guidance of an experienced company—wanted to have the benefit of the plans that had brought success to others, plus the benefit of running my own business under an established name that had national recognition.

"Most of the franchises offered were too costly for me. Temporarily all my capital was frozen in the motel. But I found that the Duraclean franchise offered me exactly what I had been looking for.

"I could start for a small amount. (Today, less than $1500 starts a Duraclean dealership.) I could work it as a one-man business to start. No salaries to pay. I could operate from my home. No office or shop or other overhead. For transportation, I could use the trunk of my car. (I bought the truck later, out of profits). And best of all, there was no ceiling on my earnings. I could build a business as big as my ambition and energy dictated. I could put on as many men as I needed to cover any volume. I could make a profit on every man working for me. And I could build little by little, or as fast as I wished.

"So, I started. I took the wonderful training furnished by the company. When I was ready I followed the simple plan outlined in the training. During the first period I did all the service work myself. By doing it myself, I could make much more per hour than I had ever made on a salary. Later, I would hire men, train them, pay them well, and still make an hourly profit on their time that made my idea of retirement possible—I had joined the country club and now I could play golf whenever I wished.

"What is this wonderful business? It's Duraclean. And, what is Duraclean? It's an improved, space-age process for cleaning upholstered furniture, rugs, and tacked down carpets. It not only cleans but it enlivens and sparkles up the colors. It does not wear down the fiber or drive part of the dirt into the base of the rug as machine scrubbing of carpeting does. Instead it lifts out the dirt by means of an absorbent dry foam.

"Furniture dealers and department stores refer their customers to the Duraclean Specialist. Insurance men say Duraclean can save them money on fire claims. Hotels, motels, specialty shops and big stores make annual contracts for keeping their carpets and furniture fresh and clean. One Duraclean Specialist signed a contract for over $40,000 a year for just one hotel.

"Well, that's the business I was able to start with such a small investment. That's the business I built up over a period of eight years. And, that's the business I sold out at a substantial profit before I was fifty."

The Jerry and Rocky Show

White House/Kennedy

One thing the President found to tease his Vice President about was a news story about a man who had a deal for Rocky. The man had a bronze statue of an armed youth that had once belonged to Rockefeller's grandfather, John D. He was offering to exchange it for some other art object the Vice President could give him.

"Why don't you offer him your vice presidential chandelier?" teased Ford. "You could swap him for that."

"I can't," retorted Rocky. "I need it to stay awake." As Rocky tells the story: "I am reminded of the importance of the Vice Presidency every time I look at the chandelier hanging in my Senate office."

The same chandelier hung in the White House until Teddy Roosevelt became annoyed because the wind, blowing through the White House windows, made the chandelier tinkle. Finally Teddy said, "Send that chandelier over to the Vice President's office. It should help keep him awake."

The President is trying to keep his Vice President awake by giving him plenty of work to do, like the job of investigating the CIA.

About that assignment, the Vice President quips, "The investigation is taking a little longer than we planned. We lost a lot of time trying to find a room in Washington that wasn't bugged." Then Rocky adds, "But now I've got the hang of it. When I swear in witnesses, I ask them to give the whole truth, nothing but the truth and please speak directly into the flower vase."

Rocky must take a certain amount of ribbing from the President, as when Ford needled him recently about his gift-giving proclivities, which became known to the nation during the confirmation hearings on Capitol Hill. Rocky shot back, "I should have stuck to my grandfather's example—only giving away dimes."

The Vice President in turn likes to kid the President about how Ford is throwing him out of his own home—the Rockefeller estate on Foxhall Road—and moving him to Admiral's House, which will be the official vice presidential residence.

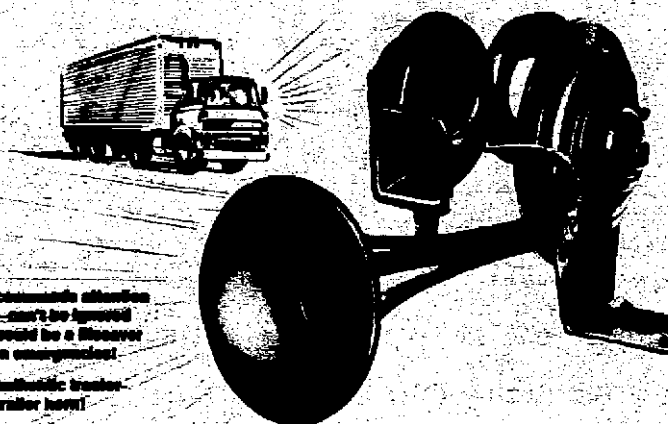

"I've had a house in Washington all these years," sighs Rocky, shaking his head, "and now I'm getting kicked out. They must be trying to find something to keep my wife busy. Not only that but I've got to go through all that redecorating again. And to top it off, they're putting me in a smaller place—12 acres, when I'm used to 18." Then he adds, "Only a President of the United States could make a fellow do that."

...even tiny compacts roar like a lion!

Instant Luggage

A must if you shop while travelling

A book-sized thing instantly grows into a suitcase before your very eyes. Contained in a pouch easily carried in a suitcase, bag, pocket or handbag, Instant Luggage becomes a 20" x 15" x 4 1/2" suitcase. It's constructed of a handsome and durable waterproof plaid fabric.

Bring it along when you plan to be coming back with more stuff than you started out with. Works the other way too — when you're coming back with less, it collapses into its own convenient pouch. It's the handiest thing since instant coffee.

Instant Luggage is from Madison House, products for easy living. Instant Luggage costs $9.95 each — imagine buying a piece of luggage for that price. Makes a great gift for the person who has everything.

This Year's great new Decorating "Trend"

Handcrafted 3-Dimensional Metal Sculptures

Electroplated with beautiful Copper, then antiqued and color brushed by hand.

"Fisherman's Wharf" 12 1/4" x 23 1/4"

"Victorian House" 13 1/4" x 20"

"Windmill" 19 1/4" x 11 1/4"

No Two Exactly Alike— Each an Original Work of Art Each an Impressive Size

Romantic, nostalgic 3-dimensional metal wall sculptures are the very latest decorating trend, and are selling from about $60 up to $190 in better stores. The price tag on a similar piece to "Fisherman's Wharf" (shown at top of ad) is $160! And frankly, if immodestly, we feel our interpretation is prettier — cleaner in line, purer in execution. Each of our versions is guaranteed electroplated with Copper — cut, stamped, hammered, antiqued, welded and color-brushed all by hand and ready to hang. No two are exactly alike, and each is an original work of art. At only $14.99 apiece, they are bound to sell out fast: To avoid disappointment, please order at once.

Introducing More and More

Here it is. More.

The first 120mm cigarette. A whole new look. A whole new feel. A whole new length.

And what's more, More is available in your choice of regular filter or menthol.

But either way, it's More.

Long, lean and burnished brown, More looks like more, it tastes like more, yet it's surprisingly mild.

More smokes slower too, yet draws easy for more enjoyment. (Which gives you more time for those relaxing moments.)

And More gives you over 50% more puffs than a 100mm cigarette. But More doesn't cost more.

If you swing towards menthol More, you'll find that More Menthol gives you more coolness, more tobacco enjoyment.

More Menthol starts with a blast and cruises you through the longest, slowest-burning, coolest-smoking experience you've ever had.

More. And More Menthol. They sit neat in your hand like they were made for it and fit your face like they found a home.

It's a new experience.

What in the World!

TINY TURK AND JO ANN HOSS
Who ate more shrimp?

Size was not a factor in this contest: Jo Ann Hoss weighs in at a mere 118 pounds and yet she holds the title of Shrimp Eating Champion, which she earned in July, 1971, by shucking and downing 5 lbs. 10 ozs. of shrimp. At 6-8, 480 lbs., Tiny Turk was simply no match for her. What is her secret? "My size is certainly not an advantage, but my husband and I run a wholesale shrimp business in Freeport, Texas, and perhaps from that I've learned how to shuck faster than most. Also, I do like to eat—I came from a family of eight children, and if you didn't eat quickly you just might go hungry," Jo Ann said laughingly. "The hardest part of the contest comes at the end because it takes supreme concentration not to get sick." Even though Jo Ann hasn't competed since she earned the title, she still holds the record and is listed in "The Guinness Book of World Records." Soon after the competition she developed an allergy to shrimp. Shucks!

CATHY RIGBY
Ballet was too tame

The little girl with the big will to win: "At the age of eight, Cathy began taking ballet lessons. She found the disciplined movements enjoyable but not acrobatic enough. When she heard that a local youth center was offering classes in trampoline, Cathy begged her father to take her there. Paul Rigby recalled that first lesson as the opening of a door to a new universe for his daughter. "On the very first night," he said, "she was doing backflips!" Cathy was close to her eleventh birthday when she met the noted gymnastics coach, Bud Marquette, the man who was to change her life. "When Cathy came to me in 1963," Marquette said years later, "she came in shorts and bare feet. She looked just like a ragamuffin. All she could do was cartwheels. But in about two months she was better than girls who had been training for two years. She never fooled around. She would have excelled no matter what." From "Women Who Win" by Francene Sabin (Random House, $3.95).

WHY PLANT

A GROUND COVER?

In many areas and situations, ground covers are more appropriate and more satisfactory than turf. They are able to grow and thrive in sun OR shade, and in poor soil.

On steep slopes where mowing is difficult, ground cover is much more effective and much less laborious to maintain than grass. Ground covers hold the soil as well as turf and the textures are far more interesting.

Small areas of grass are a continual chore to keep mown and trimmed but ground covers require almost no care. They are excellent protection and soil conditioners. They hold the fallen leaves from blowing away, thus helping to add annually to the humus content.

WHY CREEPING RED SEDUM?

One of Sedum's most valuable assets is its full time beauty. Lush foliage begins in early spring, and star-shaped wine red flowers delight the viewer from late June through September. The attractive semi-evergreen foliage lasts well into winter, maintaining its rich green and bronze color nearly all year round.

Besides being one of the loveliest of the ground covers, Sedum also rates high on the other requirements. It is hardy, grows well in sun or partial shade, in sandy soil, clay soil, or good soil.

Its thick foliage and root system hold the soil on slopes or banks. The neat 3-4" cover forms a dense perennial mat to bring green and wine red beauty to slopes, borders, rocky areas, anywhere beauty and durability are needed.

Each plant will easily and quickly spread to fill one sq. ft. Sedum spreads evenly, maintains its uniform smooth beauty at all stages of growth. Unlike some other ground covers, Sedum, also called "Dragon's Blood," stays where you put it - does not straggle out into places where it doesn't belong. Sedum is almost indestructible, enduring and persisting against heavy climatic and nutritional odds.

FULLY GUARANTEED

All items guaranteed to be of high quality, exactly as advertised and to arrive in good healthy condition or purchase price will be refunded. RETURN SHIPPING LABEL ONLY - you may keep the plants. (One year limit).

SEND this Special Offer Coupon
TODAY to receive your Red Sedum and Peonies!

Now is a Good Time to Order
RED SEDUM!

Your young Sedum plants will establish themselves and begin to spread a few days after planting. In a month or so they will already be 3-4 inches in diameter. They may lose their foliage as the first winter progresses but will leaf out again in early spring. During a long growing season they may reach 12" in diameter, always maintaining their neat regulated shape.
